ROME'S RISING RIVERS

Tree limbs and other debris float down the Tiber River, swollen by the persistent and torrential rain that has been falling on Rome and all over Italy for days and days now. Many rivers are swollen and rich agricultural lands have been flooded. More rain is forecast. In background is the historic Castle St. Angelo, tomb of Emperor Hadrian.

Another jump in wholesale prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher costs for automobiles, fuel and other industrial goods boosted wholesale prices by six-tenths of a per cent in October, marking the second consecutive big monthly increase, the government said today.

The rise was smaller than thefine-tenths of a per cent increase in September, but still was the third-sharpest monthly increase this year and by no means good news for the incoming Carter administration.

Only a decline in agricultural prices kept the wholesale price index from rising more sharply.

The Labor Department said industrial prices surged 1 per cent higher last month, the largest one-month increase since last October when they rose 1.2 per cent. These prices have continued rising at a rapid rate since last June.

Economists are usually more concerned about price trends for industrial commodities as an indication of the underlying inflationary pressures in the economy since they are less volatile than farm prices.

Farm prices were down 1.2 per cent in October after rising 1.9 per cent in September. They had declined in both July and August. Prices for processed foods and feeds also dropped in October, declining seven-tenths of a per cent.

Series of earthquakes jars wide portion of Southland

One 5.7, but no major damage reported

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A series of more than 60 earthquakes rocked a wide portion of Southern California today, but authorities said there were no reports of major damage.

The quakes began Wednesday night and continued through the predawn hours. The quakes were centered near Brawley, about 40 miles south of the Salton Sea in the sprawling agricultural area, according to Carl Johnson, a spokesman for the seismology laboratory at the California Institute of Technology here.

Johnson said that one of the quakes registered 5.7 on the Richter scale, but the majority of them registered about 2.0 on the scale.

A reading of 2.0 is considered minor. Each step up on the scale represents a tenfold increase in ground motion and a 30-fold increase in the amount of energy released. A reading of 4.0 is considered a moderate earthquake.

Brawley police said they had received a flurry of calls Wednesday night when the quakes first hit. The only reported damage was about $200 in food products knocked from the shelves of a market.

At El Centro, about 25 miles south of Brawley, police dispatcher Kathy Walker said the biggest temblor hit while she was standing in the communications room.

"I didn't think it would ever stop," she said. "The walls are cement and they kept moving. The feeling was one of waving, rolling motion which just kept going, kept going."

Police in San Diego, about 100 miles from the epicenter, said they received a number of calls about the quakes.

The 5.7 reading was registered by the seismology laboratory at the University of California at Berkeley, more than 500 miles north of the Imperial Valley, a vast, arid desert which has hundreds of thousands of acres of irrigated farmland.

Johnson said the largest quake registered at Caltech was 4.9 and was recorded about the same time the Berkeley laboratory registered the 5.7 reading. It was not known if they were the same.

"The quakes are difficult to calculate because they're coming in so rapidly," Johnson said. "We don't get one calculated before the next one comes in."

He said such earthquake "swarms" are not uncommon in the Imperial Valley, where a number of earthquake faults are located.

Cairo urges Arab unity to fight Carter policy

By The Associated Press

Egypt's leading newspaper called on the Arab world to forge a united front and find new ways to use oil as a political weapon in order to cope with President-elect Jimmy Carter's pro-Israel policy in the Middle East.

Elsewhere, Carter was viewed as a welcome fresh face or a puzzling unknown by editorialists trying to predict what direction the new American leadership would take.

Cairo's semiofficial Al Ahram predicted that the new administration would give Israel unlimited support. It urged the Arab states to counter this with a unified political, economic and military policy and new tactics to use Arab oil for political leverage.

"Arabs everywhere don't welcome the success of Carter," wrote Mussa Sabry, editor of Al Akhbar, another Egyptian daily.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, said President Ford's ban on mention of the detente policy during his campaign was a factor in his defeat because it caused doubts he would allow a course in international relations which the rank and file of Americans wanted.

But a Chinese Communist newspaper in Hong Kong, Wen Wei Po, said Carter's victory was a protest against detente because the policy encouraged Soviet military expansion. It said Americans "are afraid the Soviet Union could become the world's most powerful military country and the United States could be relegated to second place."

Other foreign newspaper comment:

Singapore Straits Times — "The policies of Mr. Carter and Mr. Ford are remarkably similar, but one basic difference is that (Secretary of State Henry) Kissinger will not be around." It said Carter is likely to support Israel strongly and to move closer to the Western democracies and Japan with less emphasis on China and Russia.

L'Unita, Italian Communist party newspaper — "Carter made himself a spokesman of the need to open the windows allowing new air in U.S. internal policy. The world will watch with wide open eyes and a critical mood Carter's expressed views for change."

Avvenire of Milan, Italy, a leading Roman Catholic daily — "Carter's victory is the defeat of a party — the Republican — which has given America the presents of the Watergate scandal, political espionage, the persecution against those who battle against the Vietnam war and American commitments in Asia."

South China Morning Post, Hong Kong, conservative — "Mr. Carter has proven himself an innovator. He is young with, hopefully, fresh ideas."

Nhan Dan, Vietnamese government newspaper — "Taking into consideration the many difficult and unsolvable problems that face the U.S. nowadays, it is doubtful that a new man in the White House can effectively solve such problems."

Nepszabadsag, Hungarian Communist party paper — Carter "remains a man unknown to both the people of the United States and to both the people of the world at large."

Rude Pravo, Czechoslovak Communist party newspaper — Called for normalization of relations, saying America had discriminated against Czechoslovakia.

Nairobi, Kenya, Daily Nation, East Africa's largest newspaper — "Carter must not mistake his victory over a lameduck and highly vulnerable president as a mandate for drastic change. He would be wise to temper his victory with caution."

British Financial Times, the voice of London's financial community — "The world had become so accustomed to living not so much with President Ford as with Dr. Henry Kissinger that it is not going to be easy immediately to adjust. He was a man to whom people turned."

London Daily Express, conservative — "Britons and America's other allies will find in Jimmy Carter one of the best and most powerful friends that they have ever had."

Times of London, independent — "If nobody knows who Jimmy Carter really is, it means that Jimmy Carter is himself still free to decide."

PRISON WITHIN PRISON

Albert Loudermilk, 61, one of about 140 older prisoners living in Elm Hall at CIM in Chino, rests on cot as he tells of plans to do some farming after his release. Elm Hall is the state's only home for elderly lawbreakers. Fighting off the loneliness that comes from abandonment and old age, many claim they'd just as soon die in prison than on outside.

Elderly inmates walk tightrope

CHINO — They spend their days like most other old persons — dreaming about the past when things were better, trying to keep busy, and trying to fight off the loneliness that comes from abandonment and old age.

But Elm Hall is different. Although it looks like most other homes for old persons, it houses murderers, rapists, and robbers.

Elm Hall, near this small town southeast of Los Angeles, is part of a state prison and is California's only home for elderly lawbreakers.

"There's nothing for them outside," said one of the inmates recently, talking as he worked a jigsaw puzzle. "They don't have any family or any friends. Nobody ever comes to see them. They'd just as soon die here as outside."

Elderly prisoners have problems similar to other old persons, but different from the younger inmates, say the state officials responsible for the 140 men at Elm Hall.

"Older convicts spend their whole day devising little ways to stay out of everybody's way," said Dr. Joseph Ham, an expert on the problems of older prisoners.

"Their primary objective is to do their time and not get in trouble. They take their meals early, they avoid the younger prisoners in the yard and they suffer a total loss of identity."

"You have to understand that most prisons are run by the young black inmates," he said. "The young guys hate prison authority and they fight the system. They do things the older people think are crazy. So the old guys just try to stay out of their way."

Many of the older prisoners fear release, Ham said, because they have no place to go.

"I had one guy who had done 30 years for murder," he said. "He was 76 when he got out and he didn't have any place to go. He deliberately committed a crime so he could get back in and he picked child molesting."

Monday strike threatened by Teamsters, meatcutters

LOS ANGELES (AP) — By Monday, 10,000 Teamsters and 9,000 meatcutters could be on strike against Southern California and Las Vegas supermarkets, if recently renewed talks cannot settle the two-month old dispute.

The president of the Food Employers Council, Robert Fox, said Wednesday that if any market is struck, all members of the Teamsters and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union will be locked out of their jobs and markets will operate with supervisors, new workers, and other non-strikers.

Employers Council spokesman Bob Voight said the market owners and Teamsters representatives met Tuesday and Wednesday with a federal mediator in Los Angeles for the first time since talks broke off Oct. 18.

The Teamsters' contract has been extended day by day since its expiration Sept. 5, but 12:01 a.m. Monday is the deadline for agreement, they now say.

Meanwhile, the butchers' contract expires at midnight Sunday and meetings of the meatcutters are scheduled for 6:30 a.m. that day. Voight said talks with the meatcutters will continue daily in an effort to reach agreement before the deadline.

Ohio goes to Jimmy

Tired Ford, Carter planning vacations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Victorious challeger Jimmy Carter and vanquished President Gerald R. Ford, both exhausted by their battle for the White House, are planning vacations before the rites of passage that mark the transfer of presidential power.

Carter on TV

NEW YORK (AP) — The three television networks — CBS, ABC and NBC — announced they will cover President-elect Jimmy Carter's joint news conference with Vice President-elect Walter Mondale live at 4:30 PST tonight in Plains, Ga.

Carter was meeting today with Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale, who scheduled a flight to Plains, Ga., for their first conference since the election.

Carter's paper-thin margin of 272 electoral votes — only two more than the minimum required for victory — increased today as Ohio fell into the Democratic camp with its 25 electoral votes.

With Oregon the only race still too close to call, Carter had 297 electoral votes to Ford's 235.

The 52-year-old Georgia peanut farmer and former governor, who spent nearly two years in his pursuit of the White House, said as he claimed his victory in the wee hours of Wednesday morning that he was pledging himself to "the unification of our country."

It will be up to the two winners, their staffs and the staff of Ford's White House to work out details of the transfer of the control of government from the defeated Republican president to the victorious president-elect.

While the principals in the fight for the right to lead the United States into its third century accepted the results of Tuesday's election and planned for the orderly transfer of power, vote counting continued in widely scattered areas.

Ohio went for Carter this morning with the secretary of state reporting a vote margin of 6,300 votes and the National Election Service reporting an edge for Carter of 7,575. About 750 absentee ballots remain uncounted, mostly in the Cleveland area.

In Oregon, which has six electoral votes, Carter was trailing Ford by 662 votes with about 9,000 absentee ballots to be counted. The final count may not be completed until Friday.

Carter carried 23 states and the District of Columbia. Ford carried 26 states.

Witness in murder trial says he was told of act

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

Murder suspect Roger Eugene Thayer, 37, Alhambra, told at least two men he had killed a "Mexican" after George Michael Chavez was found shot to death east of Ontario International Airport on Aug. 13, a court was told Wednesday.

Thayer, on trial for murder in West Valley Superior Court, is accused of the execution-style slaying of Chavez.

He was arrested by Ontario police detectives five days after Chavez' nude body was found face down and spread eagle one quarter mile east of Milliken Avenue south of the San Bernardino Freeway on a dirt road.

The information that led to the arrest of Thayer came from Ronald Bressel, who took the witness stand.

Bressel, a friend of the defendant, said on Aug. 15 he went to a drive-in theater with Thayer. Later Bressel said he and Thayer went over to his Alhambra apartment where they talked.

Bressel said Thayer told him, in detail, how he had killed a man in Ontario on the request of a friend of his at the California Men's Colony in San Luis Obispo.

Bressel said the defendant explained how two friends of his, Laura Nauta and Victor Caldera of La Puente, had gotten Chavez, an alcoholic, away from the "Crossroads" alcohol rehabilitation home in Upland on Aug. 12. on the pretext of finding him a job at Pacific State Hospital in Pomona.

Thayer told Bressel that he and Chavez got together at the Caldera home and decided to drive around in the victim's car that night.

The two wound up on the dirt road east of the airport.

Bressel said Thayer told him that the victim got sick and staggered out of the car to regurgitate.

As Chavez was kneeling on the ground sick, Thayer got a German Luger automatic pistol from a briefcase, Bressel said. He walked over to the victim and shot him in the head. Thayer then stripped Chavez' body of its clothes and laid him out in a spread eagle fashion. Thayer told Bressel he then wrote words like "a disgrace to his race" on his body.

The witness said Thayer told him he later tore up the victim's identification and flushed it down a service station toilet, ripped the wallet up and threw it out of the car window, and placed the victim's clothes in a number of Goodwill boxes along the way.

Thayer told Bressel he then returned to the Caldera house and with the help of Victor, parked the victim's car next to a La Puente bar.

Bressel, on the stand, said he went to the Los Angeles police with the story.

Police contend that Thayer killed Chavez for a former CMC inmate, Paul Nauta, who was sent to prison on the victim's court testimony.

Nauta is the brother of Laura Nauta.

Wednesday in court Jose Angel Rojas, 17, Alhambra, testified that he and Thayer were both employed at an Alhambra garage. Rojas said on Monday, Aug. 16, Thayer asked him to drive up to San Luis Obispo to drop off some clothes for a friend of his (Nauta at the prison).

Rojas said he went along and on the way back Thayer told him that "he had killed somebody. He snuffed somebody out in the desert . . . a Mexican, and put some writing on him . . . on his body."

In other testimony Ontario police detective Ken Underhill said on a consent search he found a German Luger pistol in the home of Thayer's father, Gene Thayer of 433 S. First St., Alhambra.

Thayer was arrested at his father's home.

San Bernardino criminologist John Davidson said he examined the pistol taken from the Thayer home, but could only determine that the size of the gunshot wound in Chavez' head was roughly the same diameter as the bullet used in the gun.

The trial continues in the courtroom of Judge Clifton L. Allen, with Deputy Dist. Atty. Wayne Gomez as prosecutor and Monterey Park attorney Laurence E. Clark as defense counsel.

Clark told Judge Allen that he may not call any witnesses for the defense and suggested closing arguments might be heard today after the prosecution rests.

Adams found guilty of murder, robbery

Randolph Adams III, 19, was ruled guilty of first-degree murder and robbery Wednesday by a Pomona Superior Court jury which was scheduled today to begin the penalty phase of the case.

Adams, of Chicago, was charged with murder and robbery in the slaying last New Year's Eve of Israeli immigrant Akiva Mohr, 24, in Mohr's apartment in West Covina.

A second young man, Michael D. Perriera, 19, of Santa Maria, was convicted of the same charges earlier in the same incident and has been sentenced to state prison. The prosecution is appealing that sentence after trial jury found that special circumstances existed which should require the death penalty for Perriera. That judgement was set aside by the trial judge, however.

The Adams jury also will be asked to determine if those circumstances existed in his case and if so, he also could face a possible death penalty sentence.

The two men were accused of killing Mohr and stealing his car after he picked them up hitchhiking.

During the Adams trial, Judge William R. Clay threw out a confession attributed to Adams on the grounds that police had obtained it improperly. Then the prosecution's attempt to have Perriera testify against Adams failed when he refused to do so while his conviction is being appealed.

But the prosecution's case, handled by Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold Hofman, was strengthened when investigators returned to Mohr's apartment and reportedly found Adams' fingerprint there almost a year after the slaying.

The victim was bound, gagged, shot, stabbed and his throat was cut.

Plans for Mountain Meadows project to be reviewed tonight

Redevelopment plans for the proposed Mountain Meadows Redevelopment Project area in Pomona will be reviewed tonight by the city's Community Redevelopment Commission.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall Boards and Commissions Room.

Most of the 151 acres in the proposed district is designated for residential use, with the development of more than 40 upper-income homes anticipated if the district is formed.

Boundaries of the proposed district are generally the San Bernardino Freeway on the south, Ganesha Boulevard on the west, McKinley Avenue on the north and the developed portion of the Ganesha Hills on the east.

Most of the land within the proposed district, about 130 acres, is vacant at present. An additional 14.18 acres is either developed or designated for commercial use.

Jury in Fitzjohn trial deliberating

By JACK BURSON
PB Staff Writer

A Pomona Superior Court jury late Wednesday afternoon began deliberating its verdict in the murder trial of Don Merrill Fitzjohn, the 30-year-old San Gabriel man accused of slaying his estranged wife and her male companion in their La Verne apartment Feb. 22.

The panel received the case after being instructed in the law by the trial judge, Sam Cianchetti.

Fitzjohn is accused of shooting to death Mrs. Jeannie Beth Fitzjohn, 20, and Gary Ernest Keltz, 35, in their apartment in the Family Tree Apartments at 2421 Foothill Blvd. that Sunday morning. Both Fitzjohn children were in the apartment at the time.

The defense maintained that despite the fact that Mrs. Fitzjohn had left her husband and moved into the apartment with Keltz as man and wife, Fitzjohn and she had decided upon a reconciliation. The defense included extensive psychiatric testimony related to Fitzjohn's claim that he has no recollection of the actual shootings.

In his closing argument to the jury Tuesday, Defense Attorney Eugene Osko, of West Covina, described Fitzjohn as a "passive, non-violent" man who loved his family and who already had taken his wife back twice after she had run off with other men.

Fitzjohn, according to Osko, was a man who was "pushed beyond all limits" the day he went to the La Verne apartment and found Keltz there. And, when the two men saw one another and Keltz made an obscene gesture from inside the apartment at the smaller Fitzjohn, Fitzjohn "exploded" and crashed through the kitchen window. Keltz was shot twice before Fitzjohn climbed the stairs to the second-floor bedroom of his wife. There, according to Osko, he pulled the two Fitzjohn children away from their mother, hit her several times with the pistol barrel and shot her twice. Fitzjohn had the weapon with him because his wife had asked to borrow it for protection, the attorney said.

Osko reminded the jury that two psychiatrists who examined Fitzjohn for the defense testified that at the time of the shootings Fitzjohn was in a "totally irrational and demented" state of mind.

In his closing argument, Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Kuhnert told the jury that whatever the panel thought of the lifestyles of Mrs. Fitzjohn and Keltz, they had a right to life. He said that instead, Fitzjohn acted as judge and jury and dealt his brand of justice out the muzzle of a .357-caliber Magnum pistol.

Claremont fire may have been set by burglars

A fire which inspectors believe was started to cover up a burglary caused $20,000 damage at a Claremont Palms apartment, 530 W. San Jose Ave., Claremont, Wednesday morning.

The occupant, Ida Morse, is away on vacation and her son is staying with friends.

Witnesses reported seeing three teen-age youths leave the apartment with a filled pillow case shortly before the fire was discovered.

Two of the youths were in custody of the Claremont police Wednesday afternoon.

County firefighters found the apartment totally involved when they arrived. They reported heavy damage to the entire interior of the apartment and some damage to the exterior.

END OF THE BATTLE

What happens to U.S. foreign policy in next lame-duck 12 weeks?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's failure to win election means key foreign policy issues that languished under the pressure of vote gathering now will stagnate during the remaining 12 weeks of Ford's lame-duck administration.

U.S. officials said the goal of Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will be to hold things together while working to create an impression that business will go on as usual.

But there will be no new initiatives taken and no new commitments made, the officials said, not only because Jimmy Carter would object, but because few if any foreign governments will be willing to deal on crucial matters with an administration on its way out.

Kissinger himself is expected to stay in office until Carter takes over next Jan. 20, but many other State Department officials and ambassadors probably will be leaving.

Already Richard M. Helms, the former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, has resigned as ambassador to Iran. One key Kissinger aide who has labored for the secretary since 1969 is preparing to leave soon, first to take a long vacation and then to seek outside employment.

"This will be the time of the 'actors,'" said one State Department source, meaning that as high-level officials leave, they will be replaced by "acting" officials.

Mentioned prominently among those retiring early or leaving the Foreign Service are Deputy Secretary Charles Robinson, Counsellor Helmut Sonnenfeldt, Under Secretary for Economic affairs William D. Rogers and director of Policy Planning Winston Lord.

The major casualties by Ford's and Kissinger's own views will be their hopes for a new U.S.-Soviet treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons and, on a wider plane, detente with Russia.

Because of charges by conservative Republicans as will as Carter that Kissinger was not strong enough with the Russians, the Ford administration has been dormant since last spring in negotiating a second-phase strategic arms limitation treaty.

Kissinger also canceled meetings last summer of U.S.-Soviet commissions on trade and other matters when Ford was under strong challenge for the Republican nomination by conservative Ronald Reagan, who charged the administration with being soft on Moscow.

Another important issue on which the administration has been marking time is the Middle East. The administration was reluctant to move in such a touchy area pending the election.

For example, Kissinger chose not to respond to a Soviet move in September indicating interest in an American idea to convene a preliminary conference involving Israel and Arab nations to prepare for a full-fledged Geneva peace conference.

He said privately that no answer would be given until after Nov. 2. Now that response will be further delayed.

U.S. officials laughed when asked if negotiations on a new Panama Canal treaty would be finished before Ford leaves. The canal issue would have been sensitive even if Ford had won, they said.

In all these areas; SALT, detente, the Middle East and Panama, Carter has indicated that he has his own ideas on how to proceed, even if he plans no major policy changes.

To reinforce his determination to keep Kissinger from starting anything new in major area, sources familiar with Carter's foreign policy thinking say the president-elect will name a transition team to work with the State Department.

This team, as yet unnamed, will expect to be closely advised, even involved, in the day-to-day operations of the department.

Kissinger and his virtuoso style of running foreign policy also will be curtailed; no more shuttles or other spectacular exercises.

The only definite overseas travel on his agenda is the North Atlantic Treaty organization foreign ministers meeting in Brussels early next month.

The Rhodesian issue is one area Kissinger might move on with some latitude. U.S. involvement is in motion already, and Carter has shown no disapproval of Kissinger's efforts to arrange a peaceful transfer of power from the white minority regime to a black government.

The Ford defeat has complicated Kissinger's ability, because the black governments in Southern Africa that have supported him might back away since he has lost power.

On the other hand, the Rhodesian whites might be more amenable to Kissinger's efforts since Carter is expected to show even less sympathy for the white position.

4 held in holdup; shots fired

Four young Pomona men, arrested in connection with the robbery Wednesday morning of a service station in Claremont, remained in custody today while police continued their investigation.

The four are accused of robbing the Union station at Mills Avenue and Foothill Boulevard. They were arrested by La Verne police who had monitored the report on the police radio. The arrests were made at Garey Avenue south of Harrison Street in Pomona.

Claremont officers said that after the holdup, a station employe, Paul S. Athey, 20, followed the robbers in his car as they fled the station. During the pursuit, Athey was fired at from inside the car. He eventually lost sight of the robbers.

Another witness, Donna Allen, 39, also noticed the incident and followed the robbers' car to a deadend street and tried to block their exit. She drove out of their way, however, when it appeared they intended to ram her car.

The suspects were identified as Lee Jerome James, 19, Aaron Leroy Myers, 18, Thomas Edward Rainey, 20, and a 17-year-old juvenile. All live in Pomona.

House fire is suspect

A fire of suspicious origin caused $7,500 damage at the home of Ralph T. Della Pelle, 1129 E. Fourth St., Pomona, early this morning.

The fire was reported at 12:30 a.m. and caused extensive damage to the family room and bedroom, fire inspectors said.

Della Pelle told investigators he locked the house securely before leaving at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. When firefighters arrived, they found the back door unlocked.

Della Pelle reported that his handgun was missing.

Fire inspectors are continuing their investigation of the cause of the fire today.

Liquor store held up

A lone gunman robbed Jay's Liquors at 1006 E. Second St. Wednesday night in Pomona.

Clerk Silas D. Orrukem, 24, said the man entered, asked for a carton of cigarettes and then drew a small pistol. After obtaining the money, he fled.

The robber was described as black, 19 years old, 5 feet 8 weighing 140 pounds. He wore a blue, knit cap, blue shirt, blue windbreaker and dark trousers. He also wore gold-rimmed glasses.

Car salesman robbed

A man pretending to be interested in buying an automobile robbed a salesman at the Tate Motors used car department at 788 E. Holt Ave. in Pomona Wednesday evening.

The salesman, Charles E. James, 44, said the man entered the office, inquired about a car and then pulled a pistol. He demanded James' watch and money as well as cash belonging to the company. After obtaining the loot, he fled. A witness pursued the robber but eventually lost sight of him.

The man was described as black, 29 years old, 5 feet 9 weighing about 160 pounds. He had a heavy mustache and wore a denim jacket, jeans and was armed with a revolver.

2 men rob market

Montclair police this morning were searching for two men, one armed with a small handgun, who robbed the Stop and Go market at Bandera Street and Ramona Avenue Wednesday night.

Police said the two men entered the store and confronted clerk Linda Noble with the gun. They ordered her to hand over the cash from the register. They took the money and fled out the door.

The gunman was described as a black in his 20s, 5 feet 11, 170 pounds with a thin moustache and short brown hair.

He was wearing a pink and white knit cap, a Hawaiian tan shirt with brown pants.

The second man was described as a black in his 20s, 5 feet 9, of thin build with short, dark hair. He was wearing a medium blue knit cap.

The robbers may have escaped in a metalic blue car, slightly raised in the rear.

For Rhodesia

Britain proposes black rule date

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Trying to break a deadlock between black and white delegates, Britain today formally proposed March 1978 as the target date for Rhodesian independence, informed officials said.

The proposal by Ivor Richard, British chairman of the Rhodesian settlement talks, was made at a full-scale meeting attended by leaders of the four black nationalist delegations and by Hilary Squires, minister of justice, law and order in Rhodesia's current white minority government.

The delegates suspended their deliberations in order to consider Richard's proposal, the sources said.

It represented something of a compromise between black demands for statehood within 12 months or so and the white Rhodesians' position favoring a timetable of roughly 23 months.

The British proposal was based on the time believed necessary to complete the complex legal and constitutional processes that must precede a formal transfer of sovereignty from the British government to the breakaway colony.

Earlier, Bishop Abel Muzorewa, leader of one black delegation, called for a national election in two weeks to choose an interim prime minister for Rhodesia.

There is no alternate route as fast as the busway.

OPENS OCT. 25

Now there's an easy way for you to make up for lost time on the San Bernardino Freeway—by taking the Busway and two passengers along for the ride.

We've opened up the Busway to encourage car-pooling, as part of our on-going program to conserve energy and make the most of what we have.

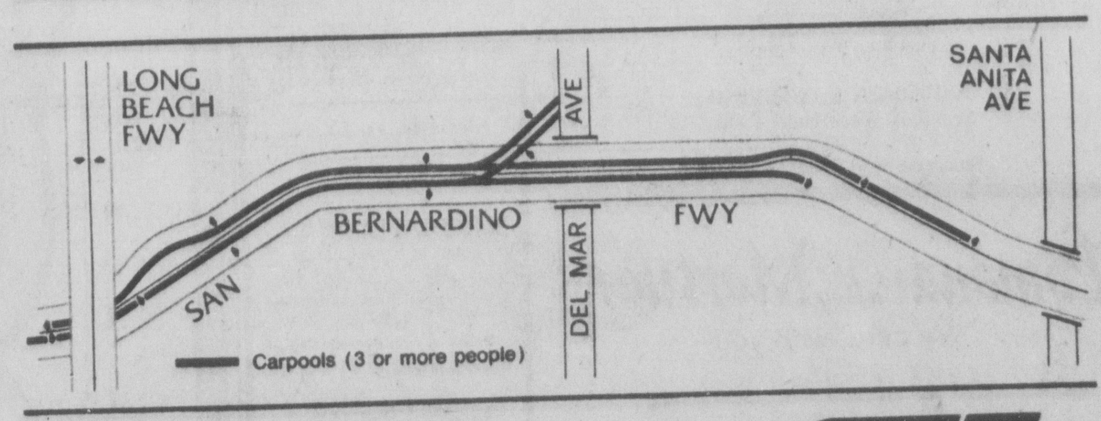
Starting Oct. 25, Mondays through Fridays, during the rush hours of 6 a.m.-10 a.m. and 3 p.m.-7 p.m., any car (trucks and autos with trailers prohibited) with three or more people is eligible to use the San Bernardino Busway.

Where and how:

- WESTBOUND, entrances, 1) west of Santa Anita Ave., and 2) Del Mar Avenue Busway On-Ramp; exit only past Long Beach Freeway.
- EASTBOUND, entrance, west of Long Beach Freeway; exits, 1) Del Mar Avenue Busway Off-Ramp, and 2) east of Rosemead Blvd.

Remember, it takes only 3 to car-pool—a quick way to beat the numbers racket during the rush hour.

Why don't you car-pool your resources—you'll discover that sharing yields fast dividends, not to mention the inside track.



FOR CAR POOL INFORMATION, CALL (213) 380-RIDE

Vote counters still playing numbers game

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neither President Ford nor President-elect Jimmy Carter bothered to campaign in Hawaii. But as it turned out, their battle was close enough so that a few thousand votes in the islands might have given the election to Ford.

As the returns continued trickling in Wednesday, Carter held a substantial margin in the national popular vote, 40,276,040 to 38,532,630. In percentages, Carter had 51 to Ford's 48. But in the electoral college, it was much closer.

Carter's victories in 22 states, including Hawaii, won him 272 electoral votes, two more than the 270 needed for an absolute majority.

His margin of victory in Hawaii was 7,300 votes. If Hawaii's four electoral votes had swung to Ford, Carter would have been stopped two short of a majority. The nation would now be agonizing over the contents of some absentee ballots in Oregon and Ohio.

Oregon and Ohio are so close that no winners have been declared as of early today. In Oregon, Ford leads Carter for the six electoral votes by 485,305 to 484,643, or a margin of 662 votes. The final results may be known by the end of the week, when absentee ballots are tallied.

Ohio's 25 electoral votes are leaning toward Carter. He has 1,999,481 popular votes to 1,991,881 for Ford. But those results could change in the final canvass, which will not be held for two weeks.

Although the elections were equally close in other states, many states count their absentee ballots before the election, so the final results are known sooner.

Ford counted several fingernail victories in his list of 26 states and 235 electoral votes. He won by 130,000 votes out of 7.5 million cast in California; by 13,000 of 1.25 million cast in Iowa; by 3,000 of 460,000 cast in Maine; by 57,000 of 2.9 million cast in New Jersey; by 5,000 of 300,000 cast in South Dakota.

Some of Carter's close victories, aside from Hawaii, were in Wisconsin, 34,000 out of 2 million cast; and Mississippi, 12,000 of 735,000 cast.

The election turnout was either high or low, depending on the statistics used. About 79.4 million voted, the highest figure ever. In 1972, the turnout was 77.6 million; in 1968 it as 73 million; and in 1964, it was 70 million.

Asia huge

Asia, one of the seven continents, is much bigger than any of the others. It is as big as the two Americas and bigger than Africa and Europe put together. East to west it stretches about a third of the way around the world.

'Too much stress and strain'

Merle Haggard just resting

BAKERSFIELD (AP) — Country-western singer Merle Haggard is alive and well and vacationing in Southern California.

That's the report from Haggard's manager Fuzzy Owen, who was questioned here about the celebrity's sudden disappearance from a concert tour over the weekend.

"He's just resting up from too much stress and strain and pressure on the road," Owen said. "He'd been on tour for about three weeks, and I guess it just got too much for him. He's been under quite a strain."

Haggard had failed to appear for weekend concerts in Denver and Salt Lake City, and a spokesman for Harrah's Club in Reno said the singer called the hotel late Sunday to cancel a 10 day engagement there that was to have begun Monday.

Sammy Davis, Jr., who had been performing at Harrah's in Tahoe, replaced Haggard in Monday's opening night show at the Reno club. Haggard had appeared at Harrah's several times in past years, and a spokesman said Haggard's failure to appear for the Salt Lake City engagements was the first time he was known to miss a performance in his career.

Owen estimated it would be at least three to four weeks before Haggard resumed his performance schedule.

His best known song is "Okie From Muskogee." He also composed and recorded "The Bottle Let Me Down," "Mama Tried," and "Movin' On."

HOEDOWN! — Chris Parrott, 7, Chris Barnard, 8, and Shari Shainberg, 11, tune up their old-fashioned instruments for a contry fair at Claremont's Chaparral School, which will be held Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The fair, sponsored by the school PFA, will feature a craft boutique, country store complete with pickle barrel, baked goods and candies, hot dogs and soft drinks. Proceeds from the fair will be used for projects to benefit the children at Chaparral.

On campus

CHAFFEY COLLEGE has scheduled a course, consisting of four classes, in pulmonary resuscitation from 7 to 10 p.m., Mondays and Wednesdays starting Monday at the CSA 50 building, 9161 Baseline, Cucamonga.

Covered in the noncredit class, ending Nov. 17, will be the emergency procedure of recognizing respiratory or cardiac arrest, and the proper application of cardiac pulmonary resuscitation to maintain life until the victim recovers or medical help is available.

Students will receive a certificate upon satisfactory completion of the class.

The instructor will be Louis Lewellen, a former lieutenant at the King County Fire Department in Washington.

Students may register for this tuition-free class at the first session attended. For further information call 987-1737.

Leaders in three fields of current interest — acupressure, meditation and experimental poetry — will present three workshops at CITRUS COLLEGE on Nov. 15 to 17. All sessions are at 7 p.m.

Acupressure (Jin Shin Jyutsu style) is the art of restoring the body to a balanced state by causing a physical flow of energy by stimulating specific body points with finger pressure and body energy. The session on acupressure will be held at 7 p.m. on Nov. 15 in the college's Little Theatre and be led by Paul Abell. Admission is $2.

The meditation and movement workshop will be conducted at 7 p.m. on Nov. 16, also in the Little Theatre. Participants in this workshop are led to get in touch with the energy flows in and around their bodies by using certain meditative and movement techniques, according to Ronald Levy, former Citrus College faculty member, who will conduct the workshop. He will be assisted by Sharon Dunn, former Citrus College student. Admission charge is $5.

The session on creative poetry will be led by Toby Lurie, a San Francisco poet. He stresses group involvement and blends the dynamics of music and rhythm to create a sculptured sound thus "bringing people and language together in a humanizing way," he says. Admission charge for this session, which will be held Nov. 17 in the Student Center, will be $2 for adults. Students will be admitted free.

"The Economic Implications of the Election" will be discussed Wednesday at CLAREMONT MEN'S COLLEGE, when the Applied Financial Economics Center (AFEC) holds its 1977 Outlook Conference.

Along with visiting experts, economists and political scientists on the CMC faculty will lead sessions focusing on the practical problems the election brings to financial decision-makers.

Topics under discussion include "The Meaning of the Election" by dean of faculty Alan Heslop; "Impact of the 1976 Tax Bill" by George Gibbs; "The Federal Budget and Federal Reserve Policy," by the AFEC staff; and "International Economic Policy" by Richard Sweeney, U.S. Department of the Treasury. The Center's Forecast for 1977 on inflation, interest rates, stock prices and exchange rates, also will be discussed by the AFEC staff.

Afternoon workshop seminars will run concurrently from 2 p.m. to 3:55 p.m. at Bauer Center. Robert Parry of Security Pacific National Bank and Philip Zachary of the Community National Bank, Bakersfield, will lead a seminar on commercial bank strategy; Maurice Mann of the Federal Home Loan Bank of San Francisco and Robert Nichols of Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association will lead the session on strategy for savings and loan associations; Randall Hinshaw of Claremont Graduate School and John Makin of the University of Washington will lead the session on coping with exchange-rate risks; and Robert Heisterberg of BA Investment Management Corporation, will lead a session on portfolio management.

Conference chairman is A. James Meigs, Director of AFEC and professor of economics at Claremont Men's College.

A sampling of publications by faculty and alumni of the six CLAREMONT COLLEGES is now on exhibit at the Francis Bacon Library, Claremont, through Nov. 24. Called "Claremont Looks at America," the display accurately reflects the personality and emphasis of Claremont's five undergraduate schools and Claremont Graduate School.

The public may view the exhibit, commemorating the American bicentennial, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

WHAT DO WE HAVE AGAINST POLLUTION?

Come to Anaheim and see it all, Nov. 9-11.

Drive over and see the Pollution Engineering Exposition & Congress.

It brings together a comprehensive array of products and services that solve the pollution control problems of today...and tomorrow.

It's an invaluable "how to" show...the only show that deals with all four major areas: air, water, solids and noise pollution.

And for top management and engineers working on specific pollution problems, the Congress offers the latest thinking on such subjects as:

- Achieving a More Successful Management of Plant Waste-Water Effluent
- Using Instrumentation to Increase Efficiency of Plant Pollution Control Systems
- Reducing the Risks from Plant Produced Spills
- Managing the Disposition of Sludge: Maximizing the Cost/Income Economics
- Reducing the Plant Emission of Air Pollutants
- Treatment of Concentrated Wastewaters to Produce Landfill Materials
- Controlling Water-Polluting Outflows: Compliance with Standards

In addition, the Deputy Administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, John Quarles, will discuss "National Environmental Objectives and Programs."

If you're involved in the fight against pollution, come to Anaheim to see the latest weapons and how to use them.

Hansberger suggests legalizing coke ovens

Legalizing Kaiser Steel's coke ovens is one way to resolve the Fontana plant's pollution problems, says San Bernardino County Supervisors' Chairman Dennis Hansberger.

Kaiser has been the target of severe criticism from Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, and inspection tests recently were conducted at the plant. However, an abatement order by Southern California Air Pollution Control District recently was extended to give Kaiser more time to comply with smog regulations.

Hansberger's comments came this week during a report he presented on SCAPCD efforts to deal with Kaiser's coke oven problems.

He noted "some corrective action" will be taken regarding the coke ovens but "there is no coke oven in the United States that is corrected to where it should be."

Hansberger quoted a spokesman for the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) who said vents and stacks can be improved. However, the spokesman does not like coke ovens, Hansberger said, and suggested "the only solution is to legalize" them.

The supervisor later explained the SCAPCD's rule would have to be changed on the ovens.

If Kaiser was located anywhere else but the South Coast Air Basin, there would be no pollution problem, he added.

Supervisor Robert Townsend of Chino said the Kaiser problem "disturbs me in that people expect to remedy this situation overnight. People at Kaiser are working on it. Years ago, we didn't have the expertise to improve this."

Treaty signed

In 1951 the United States signed a treaty with Australia and New Zealand for their mutual defense in Asia. Each country pledged to aid the others in case of an attack.

Central contract talks suspended

By DAVID READER
PB Correspondent

Contract negotiations between the Central Teachers Organization (CTO) and the Central School district in Cucamonga have been suspended until the district can draw up a new salary proposal to offer to CTO negotiators, said Dist. Supt. Don Sperry.

Bargaining talks have been going on for several weeks, and the two sides have met for two all day sessions with no progress.

The ratification of any contract settlement between the district and CTO has been tabled by the school board for three consecutive meetings because of the impasse.

In a related matter, California State Employees Association local President Manuel Lanarus, representing the district's classified employees, presented the board with that group's first contract proposal.

The district is to study the comparability of the dental insurance plans offered by Great West and the California Dental Service. They are currently using the plan of the latter, and have gotten a one-month extension on their agreement with CDS until a final decision can be made.

In other action, the board approved the renewal of a contract with Borg-Warner for the rental of System 80 visual unit to be used in the Early Childhood Education program. The cost is to be $60 for one year, which is the same amount as in the previous contract.

The board also passed a resolution authorizing the superintendant to make modifications in documents pertaining to the ECE program in order to keep it current with changes made by the state.

What's going on around here...

Macrame class begins

The La Verne Recreation Department begin a macrame class Nov. 17.

Classes will be held every Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. The class is for adults and the fee is $10.

Instruction will include the basic knot tying, creative knot tying, and bead construction will be taught. Belts, wall hangings, plant hangers, and several crafts will be included.

Registration is being accepted at the La Verne recreation office at 2039 Third St. Registration must be made and fees paid prior to the start of the class. For further information persons may call the La Verne recreation office at 593-4571.

Dance classes

The City of Montclair is offering two fall adult classes in folk-dancing.

This includes a beginners class on Thursdays and an advanced class on Sunday. Both start at 8 p.m. Thursday's class meets in the shuffleboard building and the advanced class in the recreation building in the Montclair Civic Center. Persons may attend one or both classes.

Basic polka, waltz, schottische, round and international folk dances are taught in an informal recreational atmosphere. Partners are not required. Rose and Harve Edwards, former Mt. Baldy dancers are the instructors. The fee is 50 cents per person per evening.

Economy aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington National Airport contributes $348 million a year to the economy of the nation's capital area, according to the Air Transport Assn.

It says, "The direct economic impact of payrolls and expenditures generated by the airport comes to $174 million. Following the standard economic rule that each dollar spent creates another dollar in the economy, the total impact of the airport is $348 million."

Black youths continue riots in South Africa community

EDITOR'S NOTE — Last June student rioting broke out in the black township of Soweto over language courses and it grew into a revolt against South Africa's white government. An Associated Press correspondent was given permission to tour Soweto. Here is his report.

SOWETO, South Africa (AP) — Protest goes on among the black youths of Soweto. Police raid homes in search of student militants and many arrests have been reported. The township's two largest schools are all but deserted even though it is final-exam time.

Black elders still preach moderation to their young, but as the killing and arrest of youths continue their anger appears to be growing. One black militant leader said the moderate parents of protesting youths now are becoming politicized.

The militancy of the young and the anguish of their parents were the two things that stood out during an eight-hour tour by this correspondent of the black township of a million people 10 miles outside Johannesburg.

Black school officials said the protest now is in the nature of an exam boycott by most students — whereas last June it was in rioting.

The black rioting first erupted here on June 16 over required courses in Afrikaans, the language of most of South Africa's whites, and spread to other parts of the country. It swelled into revolt against the government.

On the wall of a beer hall burned during the rioting, the graffiti of the revolution declares: "Blacks, fight for your own country. Remember the 16th of June."

Protest disorders here and in other black townships have claimed an estimated 370 lives since June.

Students still clash with police in Langa, outside Cape Town. A bomb recently went off in a Jabulani police station in the heart of Soweto and student pamphlets call for a new, nationwide strike by blacks.

Black school officials here threw their hands up in despair and said most of their students were boycotting examinations as part of the antigovernment protest.

Soweto's biggest schools, Orlando High School and Morris Isaacson High School, regarded as breeding grounds for militants, were virtually empty. Police recently raided Morris Isaacson High School, arresting scores of student leaders.

"Many are fleeing the township to avoid arrest," a black school official said. "Police are picking them up off the streets."

Black adults who were asked about the student movement, responded that they have no control over the students and do not know their leaders.

"Students distrust parents and teachers," a school official said. "They do not consult us."

He added that police have seized school registers to get addresses of students and are raiding homes to find those on the wanted list.

Black adults also were asked why they have not joined the revolt. This answer from one of them was a typical response: "We have too much at stake. We have our jobs. We need the money to survive. We have family responsibilities."

But that mood appears to be shifting in some as black anger mounts over the number of students killed or arrested by police.

The widespread detention of older militant black leaders, such as Winnie Mandela, wife of the imprisoned nationalist Nelson Mandela, has also provoked black moderates.

"We are law abiding," said one elderly black. "But it is hell for us, too, to live in this system and people are getting angrier."

But black militants still at large say privately the continued deaths and detentions are a good cause for black liberation.

"People are becoming politicized," said one who asked not to be identified. "We have to educate these people. In a struggle, we have to fasten our belts. Some people have to fall along the roadside. It's all along the road to freedom."

But the moderation still remains deep among many blacks who say it is not too late for racial reconciliation in South Africa.

"If they would just sit down with us to talk and hear our grievances and let us have a say in our own affairs," said the father of a youth who is under arrest. "We are not Marxists as the whites claim."

"We do not want a purely black parliament — we need to share with whites by our side."

Communications network set up for Expo

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

A communications network for Expo 81 will be created to allow for full participation of state, regional, county, city and community representation and access to information for the proposed world fair at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Richard Pittenger, president of Expo 81 Corp., released the information to nearly 100 persons attending a luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Red Hill Country Club in Cucamonga. The meeting was coordinated by the Expo 81 Committee and also served as the forum for pertinent remarks by Richard Henry, the American delegate to the Bureau of International Expositions and also vice president of the international organization.

In announcing the communications network that will stretch from the governor's office to city representatives, Pittenger also announced the appointment of Jack Kelly to head the second regional district that will be comprised of San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Riverside counties.

Kelly, executive vice president and manager of the Ontario office of Santa Fe Federal Savings and Loan Association, will also serve as chairman of the entire regional delegation of nine counties. The first district includes representatives of Kern, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties while the third district will bring together Orange, San Diego and Imperial counties.

Pittenger explained that an executive board will be formed at the state level with Senator Ruben Ayala, D-32nd District, Assemblyman William McVittie, D-65th District and a representative of Governor Brown's office as the members. Below this level will be the regional commissioners.

Then, at each county level, two commissioners will be appointed by each supervisor to comprise a commission of 10. Finally, each city council will appoint one commissioner per council member for a local commission of five members.

The chairman of each commission at each level will meet once a month with the Expo 81 Corp. to exchange information, problems and solutions and questions regarding the exposition. Then each chairman will pass the information on to his or her group.

"This network is designed to close the communications gap. It will put a stop to the rumors. You'll be a part of us. And as a part of Expo 81 we'll be able to do what Dick Henry was talking about. Each cell will be responsive for the press coverage in his area. It won't be Dick Pittenger quoted. It'll be the local person quoted," Pittenger said.

Ronald Mracky of the Expo 81 Corp. said the commissions will serve the two-fold purpose of communication and action.

"It is not an honorary situation. Many times things of this nature are viewed as honorary positions. It is a true working commission and work is the key to the entire structure," Mracky said.

Henry, who also serves as the director of the Office of Conventions and Expositions for the U.S. Travel Service under the Department of Commerce, had charge of the team of experts preparing the report on the proposed class one fair for the Department of Commerce and the President. He will also be one of 38 voting delegates at the Nov. 17 meeting of the Bureau of International Exposition to give final approval on the Ontario site for the fair.

"The main point I would like to get across is that the long range benefits to come from an exposition are expansive," Henry said. "The results after Spokane have more than paid for the blood, sweat and tears that came with putting on the exposition.

"Handling an exposition does take a great deal of cooperation and collaboration between neighboring communities and counties. This is of paramount importance. I stress this," he continued.

"You will always get criticism and praise. When you get the criticism you must rebut it and get the information to the right people."

Henry also paid tribute to Pittenger who he said "has devoted a great deal of time, money and effort to Expo 81. Which I hope all of you will do because the critical days are coming on."

In closing his remarks, Henry asked that those attending pledge their moral and financial support to the exposition.

Pittenger reported that plans for providing a transportation system for the exposition are moving along in a positive fashion. He reminded those attending of the representatives of Japan Airlines who had appeared at the last Expo 81 Committee meeting and said that from Ontario the group had accompanied him to a meeting in Los Angeles with Mayor Tom Bradley and representatives of Los Angeles International Airport and others.

"We've made definite strides in our transportation system. They will be back. With the information we've given them, they're to the point of even putting in money. They claim that within a year and a half they could build a system that is satisfactory to our transportation needs," Pittenger said.

Henry announced that copies of the environmental impact report had been brought from Washington, D.C. and several copies were at the Ontario Chamber of Commerce office for the media and city officials. More copies will be mailed from Washington later and interested persons may call the chamber office or Ontario City Hall for additional information about the arrival of the extra copies.

Henry, in his role as director of the Conventions and Expositions Division of the U.S. Travel Service, coordinated the environmental impact report prepared by the Department of Commerce.

Ontario City Council has concern for sewer rates

The Ontario City Council, voicing some concern about the lack of flexibility in a recently adopted sewer assessment rate schedule, instructed staff Wednesday night to work with small businesses to determine if more equity could be introduced to the ordinance.

The council appeared a bit frustrated with the appeal by Robert Emilio, owner and manager of Benton Plating Company, for some relief from the heavy assessment for sewers on his small bulk plating business. The quintet soon discovered that although they sympathized with Emilio's plight, there was really little that could be done as the ordinance reads now.

Emilio reported that he is assessed at a rate of $1 per 8,000 gallons of waste water discharged into the sewers under the new schedule. And because his work requires a large usage of water and he does not have a recirculation system, the city bill reflects $1,200 to $1,500 every two months for sewer assessment. This charge is in addition to the water charges of $3,200 to $3,800 every two months.

In his letter, Emilio stated "This newly added sewer charge of between $600 and $700 per month represents 41 per cent of my water bill. It is becoming increasingly difficult for us to remain in business unless temporary relief is provided."

The new rates apply to nondomestic users only and were adopted in order to produce additional revenue to cover the city's cost for sewer treatment and to comply with state legislation, according to a report by City Engineer Ed James.

James stated that Benton Plating was one of 12 firms to be affected by the new industrial charges and that all had been contacted prior to the ordinance adoption by the council. Benton Plating was not represented at any of the information meetings conducted by staff. James suggested that the only means of cutting charges at this point would be for Emilio to install a recirculation system since there was no provision in the ordinance for exceptions.

Emilio said that the recirculation system is an expensive and extensive remedy and it would be impossible to afford at this time. He also reminded staff that a large industrial firm in town that discharged considerably more waste water than his business had been exempted from the ordinance until it was able to install a recirculation system. That firm, he reported, is not charged as high a rate as Benton Plating.

City Manager Roger Hughbanks said "If you played around with giving breaks to high users, I don't know where you'd draw the line."

Councilwoman Faye Dastrup asked "What criteria did you use in drawing the line before?"

"It came out of a discussion as I recall at the Chamber of Commerce. I don't think it was any scientific formula," Hughbanks answered.

James pointed out that it would require more than Emilio's statement that he would install a recirculation system, but also actual research, design and construction of such a system.

Councilman Robert Abel pointed out that "choice should be made by the individual businessman. He should be allowed to decide if he wants to pay the higher charge or install a recirculation system. It seems that if exceptions are made for large companies, it should also be considered for small businesses. It seems that small businesses are more often adversely affected."

Mrs. Dastrup felt that staff should sit down with Emilio and possibly other small businesses to work out something more equitable. City Attorney Samuel Crowe said that the ordinance can be amended to treat all users equally and provide the same benefits. "If the city engineer can determine a scheme to allow the same opportunities and benefits then you could adopt an amended ordinance," Crowe said.

MOTORIST INJURED

A 22-year-old Whittier woman was injured in the collision of her sports car and the truck in the background near Mt. San Antonio College. The victim, Robin L. Arakalian, sustained cuts to her knees and legs and was treated at San Dimas Community Hospital and later released. The accident occurred as the truck was turning into a road construction zone at Valley Boulevard and La Puente Road, sheriff's deputies said.

MAC members hold meeting, name chairman

Diamond Bar's four Municipal Advisory Council (MAC) members elected on Tuesday met Wednesday and by consensus named top vote getter Brenda P. Engdahl chairman pro tem to Dec. 1.

They agreed to hold a second meeting Friday at 4 p.m. at the Diamond Bar Country Club and tentatively scheduled their first public meeting Nov. 23 at 8 p.m. at the new Chaparral Intermediate School in South Diamond Bar.

At their meeting on Friday, council members will devote time to preparing by-laws, which they must draw up and have approved by the Board of Supervisors, approve letters to be sent to losing MAC candidates requesting that they serve on committees, and attempt to pin down a location for a permanent MAC office.

By consensus of Mrs. Engdahl, George D. Resh and Ronald G. Foerstel, they also will approve a letter to Supervisor Pete Schabarum recommending that he appoint Ken Pine, fifth top vote getter, as his representative to the MAC.

This suggestion first was made by Resh. After a long discussion, Mrs. Engdahl and Foerstel concurred. Don Stokes, however, abstained from giving approval to the suggestion explaining that he felt the MAC members should submit names of several individuals for Schabarum to consider, not just one. Others he suggested were Richard Vind and Frank Morales, members of the Walnut school board, and Bob Kunert, a man who had considered running for MAC.

Pine attended the first 30 minutes of the meeting. He told MAC members he would "be confortable" working with them and said he did not intend to run for re-election to the Pomona school board next March.

Resh said he was resigning from the board of the Diamond Bar Homeowners Association. Foerstel said that if time allowed, he would continue to serve on the board.

Pomona precinct sampling shows Carter favored

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Correspondent

A sampling of 23 voters at a Pomona precinct for the Associated Press in Tuesday's general election showed Pomonans voting 16 to 7 for Jimmy Carter over Gerald Ford with an unusual amount of cross over voting.

The precinct at the home of William S. Hunt, 640 E. Alvarado St. was one of 100 precincts selected across the nation by AP. Lupe Ramirez, 666 E. Alvarado St. was the inspector. As determined by AP statisticians, one voter was interviewed every 15 minutes every other hour.

Of the 23 voters sampled, 22 voted for 35th Congressional District candidates, splitting the votes between winning incumbant Democrat Jim Lloyd and his Republican challenger, Louis Brutocao. However, six of those voters who said they voted for Brutocao crossed over to vote for Carter. Two of Lloyd's supporters voted for Ford.

Asked what issues of the campaign had the greatest impact personally on themselves, those interviewed overwhelmingly complained of inflation which received 15 responses. Other issues which voters said affected them strongly were unemployment, tax reform and crime. The Pomona precinct experienced a high voter turnout with 248 of the precinct's 342 registered voters casting ballots.

Other workers at the Pomona precinct included Bernice Fader, Evelyn L. Hart and Wanda G. Rogers. The Associated Press obtained permission to conduct the poll from the Los Angeles County Registrar of Voters.

Pomona teachers decide not to take vote

Some 400 Pomona teachers, meeting Wednesday in Ganesha Park, decided not to take a strike vote, but wait until the mediation process either produces an acceptable 1976-77 contract or fails.

If mediator Douglas Thompson of the State Conciliation Service declares that mediation has failed, then the teachers will take the strike vote, according to Del Pfeifer, executive director of Associated Pomona Teachers (APT).

Mediation sessions have been going on, day and evening, since the impasse in negotiations was declared last Thursday, the day the teachers staged their one-day walkout.

Mediation resumed at 9 a.m. today.

Pfeifer said only 400 teachers attended Wednesday's meeting because elementary teachers were at school conducting parent conferences.

40 Mexico students visit Upland in the Sister City program

Forty students from Caborca, Mexico, will visit in Upland from Friday through Tuesday under the Upland Sister City program.

The students and their adult advisers will be guests of Upland and Pioneer junior high schools. Each school has selected 20 families to serve as hosts for the visitors.

The young Mexican students will arrive late Friday evening after a bus trip. The group will be officially greeted by Mayor George Gibson at the Upland Junior High School gymnasium at 6 p.m.

A bus trip to Disneyland is one of the many events planned during the weekend. On Monday, the visitors will attend the schools of their hosts during the morning and tour Upland and the vicinity in the afternoon.

A special dinner is planned Monday evening at Pioneer school.

This is the third time in three years that the exchange program has been sponsored by the Town Affiliation Association.

Much of the planning for this visit was directed by the newly organized youth committee of the affiliation.

Three from area hurt in traffic collision

Three persons were injured Wednesday afternoon in a traffic collision at Philadelphia Street and Yorba Avenue in Chino, according to California Highway Patrol.

Thomas Gerald Adams, 16, 12213 Rosewell Ave., Chino, the driver of one of the vehicles, and passenger Don Downs, 16, 12156 Fardon St., Chino, along with Santos Melendrez Garcia, 63, 4698 Huntington Drive, Montclair, driver of the second vehicle, were all transported to Chino General Hospital for treatment. All were later released.

Highway Patrolmen said the Montclair man's car struck the rearend of the Chino youth's vehicle. The accident occurred at 2:30 p.m.

Valley residents, officials like transportation plan

Several valley residents and officials voiced elation about a proposed policy element in the state transportation plan that would allocate more fiscal and decision making powers to local government and attempt to provide transit service to a greater and more representative range of people.

Approximately 30 persons met with Walt Gilfillan, special consultant coordinating the task force which recommended provisions of the policy element to the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) board at Claremont Council Chambers Tuesday afternoon. Vice Mayor Claire McDonald of Claremont chaired the two-hour meeting.

Gilfillan, along with Robert Pote, transportation planner for Caltrans, and Lance Stalker, community relations officer for Caltrans, explained the various aspects of the policy draft. During the question and answer period that followed the presentation, the local persons relayed their concerns and transit problems within the valley and gave their opinions of the policy element. This latter was decidedly positive.

In presenting the highlights of the element, Gilfillan explained that the state transportation board had looked at several issues, including energy, environment, institutional matters, financing questions, land uses, and came to the conclusion that the present system will not be responsive to future needs and problems.

"The board felt that what happens now and what happens in the future could not be accommodated by the existing procedures and a policy element should be established to make accommodation possible," Gilfillan said.

That element would involve a greater emphasis on private and individual involvement and participation in transit operations, consideration of the hidden costs such as air pollution and disruption of the community in making transportation decisions, greater control of local transit needs at the local level, greater accessibility to transit systems for low and middle-income, handicapped, elderly and students, and more effective use of the present system.

Mrs. McDonald applauded the policy element, saying it offered other alternatives and allowed the reduction of subsidy and regulations for greater competition and accountability by the actual users.

"It takes into account that less energy will be available, considers air pollution, includes railroads and airlines, traffic congestion and land use. All the things that we haven't thought of in the past as part of transportation, but of course are part of transportation," the vice mayor said.

Mrs. McDonald was the first, but not the last, to quip about service from the Southern California Rapid Transit District.

Pacific State patient dies of apparent injuries

A 14-year-old Pacific State Hospital patient died Wednesday in County-USC Medical Center apparently of injuries she suffered in a fall at the institution last month, Pomona police reported.

The victim, Tammy Miller, was taken to the county hospital Tuesday after her condition suddenly worsened while being treated at the state institution at 3530 Pomona Blvd.

Police reported that they were told by Pacific State Hospital physician Dr. Albert Rollman that the victim fell Oct. 18 and struck her head while bathing. The child was described as retarded.

You can't have it both ways

Everybody talks about trimming the size of the federal government, but nobody really means it.

Proof of this is the concern that has been expressed in some quarters over the fact that the government has not been spending money this fiscal year as rapidly as had been planned. The Office of Management and Budget now projects a "shortfall" of about $15 billion.

For whatever reasons, a number of federal agencies, the Defense Department in particular, have been slow in committing all the funds authorized in their budgets. According to many economists, this lower spending has meant less overall demand in the economy and is responsible for the current apparent slowdown in business recovery from the recession.

Now it would seem that if spending $15 billion less is bad for the economy, spending $30 billion more would have been twice as good for the economy. But that, of course, is precisely what the government has been doing for lo, these many years with its red-ink budgets, and many of these same economists blame that for the inflation that has bedeviled the economy in both good times and bad.

Presidential candidates and public alike are calling for economy in government. Yet when, either by design or inadvertence, Washington fails to spend what amounts to only a small fraction of the total budget, everybody yells "Ouch!"

Strange.

Testing a more efficient engine

There may not be anything new under the sun, but there are still plenty of wrinkles left to be explored in the old.

Sandia Laboratories of Albuquerque, N.M., and Livermore, Calif., is testing a new kind of automobile engine which may average 40 per cent better gas mileage than a conventional engine of equal performance.

Well, not a new engine. The Pouliot engine, named after its inventor, Sandia engineer Harvey H. Pouliot, is similar in most respects to the familiar spark-ignition, four-cycle piston engine.

The wrinkle is that instead of having a throttle in the carburetor to control engine speed, the Pouliot uses a mechanical linkage with the accelerator pedal that enables the driver to automatically change the length of the engine stroke, or displacement. In effect, the horsepower of the engine is adjusted to meet the varying demands of driving.

Varying the displacement of the engine eliminates the need for a throttle, which is one of the major causes of inefficiency in conventional engines.

The prototype engine has yet to be installed in an actual car, but computer projections indicate that when fully refined, it should ultimately improve gas mileage about 40 per cent.

One thing is as certain as the fact that we will someday run out of oil. And that is that long before we do, the kind of cars we drive will have to be markedly different from those we are driving today.

Burn deaths and slacks

Two Johns Hopkins University researchers have discovered an interesting correlation between childhood burn deaths and the popularity of girls' slacks.

Burn deaths for both sexes have gone down dramatically in recent years, thanks in part to advances in medical treatment. But the decrease among girls has been even more dramatic.

Until the mid-1960s, girls under 10 had death rates from clothing-related burns that were much higher than for boys. Beginning in the late 1950s, however, the female death rate began dropping more quickly than male rates.

It was about this time, the researchers noted — and confirmed by checking the clothing advertised in mail-order catalogues from 1950 through 1971 — that pants for girls began displacing loose-fitting, easily ignited dresses and nightgowns.

Thoughts

For freedom Christ has set us free; stand fast therefore, and rejoice, O young man, in your youth, and let your heart cheer you in the days of your youth; walk in the ways of your heart and the sight of your eyes. But know that for all these things God will bring you into judgment. — Eccl. 11:9.

Upgrade sports officiating

Dear Editor:

Approximately 100 years ago the members of the board which controls athletics in California died. These mummified corpses rest in their sarcopagi of offices and to date no one has taken the trouble to have them entombed. I fail to see where they contribute any measure towards the program they are delegated to audit.

Due to their refusal to control the so called officiations at the level of the school games, both high school and college, the students at these schools who play their hearts out for the love of their respected schools only and not for remuneration must endure and suffer the stupidity, if not worse, of these officials assigned to regulate them.

Not only must we now require that these officials assigned be given examinations to test their knowledge of the sports and rules of those proposed sports, but also one making it mandatory that they show a level of intelligence of up to at least the level of idiocy, which in itself would exclude 98 per cent of these officials now; but secondly these officials should be bonded. Here we could at least have grounds to prosecute. This latter would insure an honest game. When four officials at one game can miss several infractions all at the same time, much doubt is left in our minds. The wealthier and larger schools always seem to manage to insure themselves of a winning team. It brings tears to our eyes watching the young people play with the old school spirit when they know that they are getting an unfair shake.

It is time that we take the initiative to correct and or upgrade the department that controls the athletics in the state of California. This board has had a free hand for far too long a period of time. It has gotten to be a sacred cow.

This kind of double-dealing that the young folks have been forced to endure carries forward into their later life with the corresponding results. I don't appreciate it and I am sure that most of you do not either.

Unlimited power not foreseen

WASHINGTON — Hidden in a technical report, stamped with stern secrecy warnings, are findings that could affect the lifestyle of every American.

The 78-page study strongly suggests that the nuclear reactors, which the government is counting on to produce 40 per cent of America's future electric power, may never get beyond the blueprints.

This could mean that Americans tomorrow may no longer enjoy the unlimited use of lights, heaters, air conditioners and other home appliances.

Even automobile driving may be restricted unless government planners stop making promises and start developing other fuel sources.

Only a few key officials have had access to the disturbing study. This terse warning appears on the cover: "Recipients . . . must not show or release its contents for purposes other than official review and comment under any circumstances."

We have reason to believe, however, that the stark findings may be watered down before they are released to the public. The American people are entitled to know the truth in its original scientific form, without political censorship. We have summarized the highlights, therefore, of the secret General Accounting Office report.

It deals with "liquid metal fast breeder reactors," which the technicians know by the initials LMFBR. The study, characteristic of scientific research, is cautious. But these clear conclusions can be drawn:

— The development of the fast breeder has been impeded by bureaucratic balkanization. There has been absolutely no government coordination worth noting. More than 100 separate agencies, committees and other entities have a voice in the development.

— Federal nuclear experts have grossly misled the public about the risks. The report contends that the safety of the fast breeder is highly speculative.

— Its financing by private industry, contrary to official statements, probably will prove impossible. The technology has already cost a hefty $2.8 billion.

— Government planners are concentrating almost exclusively on the fast breeder, with an all-the-eggs-in-one-basket abandon. Yet it not only may never work, but the economic fuel reprocessing may never be achieved. Theoretically, the fast breeder should produce more fuel than it uses. But a failure to achieve reprocessing would eliminate it as a cheap energy source.

— Even if the fast breeders overcome all the obstacles and become operative, it will cost an estimated $153 billion to build the same energy capacity that could be constructed for $128 billion with conventional reactors and $95 billion with coal-fired power plants.

— If the LMFBR program fizzles, as now seems likely, the nation will have no alternative but to enforce energy conservation on the public. This would introduce the strict, regulated use of energy. For alternate energy sources, such as fusion, solar energy, sea wave generators, wind energy and shale oil, are either inadequate or a generation away.

— As evidence that the nuclear program is stalling, the report declares: "Only four new reactor plants (of any kind) were ordered in 1975 and only one plant was ordered during the first six months of 1976. Since the beginning of 1974, orders for over 200 reactors were deferred and nearly 30 were cancelled."

Public opposition to nuclear plants has gathered support in many states. Not only environmental but financial obstacles have blocked construction.

The fast breeder, meanwhile, is so experimental that even a small, 380-megawatt test plant cannot be ready before 1983. And "no single, commercial-sized reactor has been tested or even designed in the U.S.," the study points out.

Nor has anyone yet coordinated the four factors needed to process fast breeders — building the plant, producing the fuel, reprocessing the used plutonium and disposing of the lethal wastes.

The nuclear development is snarled almost beyond hope in a maze of agencies and committees, with conflicting jurisdiction. Declares the report dismally: On Capitol Hill alone, "33 committees, 65 subcommittees and one panel claim some jurisdiction over the Energy Research and Development Administration . . . Twenty-nine different federal agencies share responsibility for recommending comprehensive national energy policy."

This doesn't take into account the numerous private utilities, financial houses, manufacturers and citizens groups that are also involved in the program. These factors all add up to delay.

At best, it will take 13 years to build a commercial reactor, 10 years to get the fuel fabricated and 12 years to construct a fuel reprocessing facility.

And at least 10 years will be needed to prepare a permanent disposal dump in the remote Southwest where the deadly wastes can be safely buried and kept from contaminating the environment for the necessary thousands of years.

The secret study all but rejects out of hand the two most optimistic schedules for the development of the LMFBR technology. Its "conservative" estimate is that only six fast breeders will be in operation by the year 2000.

The economic feasibility of these few plants won't be known until "early in the next century."

The possibility also remains that the problems of safety, pollution and fuel reprocessing could block the fast breeders altogether.

The report, in part a model for setting national energy policy, pleads eloquently for "a firm decision" to coordinate efforts with goals. Otherwise, the United States might be compelled to return, at least part time, to candles and bicycles.

Paul Harvey

We'd be drowning except...

Like Britain, the United States would right now be drowning in red ink — except that we have the farmers and the farm land they don't have.

Per-man productivity in the United States is going down; the output of work per hour per man in our country is going down — except for our farmers.

In every other industry, workers seek more for doing less. Only in farming are our farmers still willing to produce more in order to earn more.

Look at the label on your sweater. What does it say? Made in Taiwan? Made in Hong Kong?

American industry is having to pay such high wages for so little effort that our merchandise is being priced out of the market. So more and more Americans are buying "foreign-made" merchandise.

And more and more American industries are being driven overseas — to produce there, or to purchase there — what they sell here.

It is American agriculture, almost alone, which continues to prosper our homefolks. And with enough left over to help keep our foreign trade in balance.

As we are shopping elsewhere for manufactured merchandise, "elsewhere" is shopping here for food.

In the United States a per-man-hour productivity in nonfarming industries DECLINED the last quarter. Farm output per farmer per hour continued to increase.

The United States, 6 percent of the world's people on 7 percent of the world's land, produces 66 percent of the world's soybeans. And now a new method of fertilizing soybeans has increased yields another 20 percent in just this past year.

We are producing 46 percent of the world's corn; we have an all-time record wheat crop in the bins. And yet our most discriminated-against minority, our farmers, continue to get the short end of the stick.

Because of lower prices for cattle and hogs, farmers in 1976 will harvest a net income unimproved from a year ago.

With prices of most everything else continuing to soar — shrinking our dollars — retail food prices this year are within 3 percent of a year ago.

Our farmers are producing enough potatoes for all of us this year plus more than ever for export.

How come our nation's farmers — 4 percent of our total population — are able to put the rest of us to shame in output per man? Is there no way that the rest of us can learn from them, imitate them?

We could but we won't. We wouldn't work dark-to-dark anymore for any wage.

Two-thirds of all American agricultural production continues to come from the family farm.

The family farmer, self-employed, often pays himself less than the national minimum wage — but his selflessness is all that's keeping the rest of us from drowning in red ink.

Just in jest

All I know is what I read in the papers; and lately such reading has been responsible for some interesting conclusions.

After wallowing through hundreds of society page items, I have become firmly convinced that once poor little rich society girls experience the frustrations which come when they realize the years are creeping up on them, they invariably shorten their first names to Kiki, Babs, Jill, Mimi, and even Tichi.

When I read a news story caption which states: "PRICES RISE AT LOWEST RATE IN FIVE MONTHS," I realize that our good news at all costs editors are becoming past masters at fitting disasters with rose colored glasses.

And finally, when a news item states that in this country we now have a cemetery for pet rocks — a burial ground complete with artificial turf — well, it is then I feel I have to agree with the old Quaker who once remarked: "All the world is queer save me and thee; and sometimes I have my doubts about thee."

Early education

By EARL G. WATERS

The opening of admissions to those of pre-college age by Chico State University is a commendable step forward in modern educational systems. While age has never been a qualification for college entrance, the present day public school programs have put the average age of post secondary students at over 18. So, excepting for those prodigies who by grades and qualifying preparatory courses win their way in at earlier ages, the colleges have tended to preclude the younger students.

The Chico move is apparently the result of legislation fostered by Senator Arlen Gregorio which permits two-year high school students to end their secondary studies by passing an achievement examination demonstrating knowledge equivalent to high school completion. It was a sagacious measure. Not only does it relieve the students from the drudgery of being drilled in things they already know but it saves the taxpayers money in the doing.

But there has been a hitch in the Gregorio plan whether it was foreseen or not. That is the difficulty those who have opted out of high school through the examination are finding in furthering their education. Excepting for the community colleges their failure to have formally completed studies in specific studies have barred matriculation in most colleges.

The educator syndrome has become so steeped in what has become the traditional public school program that they have failed to recognize that all knowledge isn't found in the formal setting of the public school programs. Many have risen to great achievement in this nation without experiencing high school and some with less than that.

Certainly, as has become all too evident, possession of a high school diploma does not guarantee qualification for collegiate studies. Neither should the absence of such a diploma serve as a bar to college. In fact it doesn't if one is over 21. But the failure to recognize that younger students who have not completed high school may be fully as capable of benefitting from college studies has been principally an unwillingness to believe those below 18 are ready for college.

The fallacy of this is readily seen by reviewing just those who have held the highest office in the land. Half of the nation's 38 Presidents had completed college by the age of 21. Thirteen of them were 20 or under, including James Monroe who graduated from Princeton (then College of New Jersey) at 20 and John Quincy Adams from Harvard at 20 despite time out before entering college.

Even younger were Chester Arthur graduating from Union College and James Buchanan from Dickinson College both at 18 and Benjamin Harrison from Hampden Sydney College and Zachary Taylor from William and Mary, both at 17. Andrew Jackson was practicing law at age of 19 and Martin Van Buren commenced law practice when he was 18. Herbert Hoover enrolled at Stanford when he was 16.

That, of course, is just the record of those who have made history through political office. Many notables in other fields have graduated from colleges, including Yale and Harvard, at even younger ages.

It is a well known fact among serious educators that the basic school program of grades 1 through 12 could easily be given in 8 years thus readying students for college at 14. Labor unions, professional sports operators and the modern economy has worked against this becoming a reality.

But in a society which has become so professionalized that it requires several years of post college studies to qualify for licenses to engage in a productive life, it seems a foolish waste to deny earlier education with the result many have lived half of their lives before they commence earning a living.

Chico may prove to be the start of a reawakening in education to the advantages of training them young.

Ann Landers

Do yourselves a favor

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for all couples who met at work, fell in love, married, and continue to work together.

Please do yourselves a favor. One of you quit. I don't care which one, but for the sake of your marriage, the people who have to work with you, your boss, everybody, quit.

It's unhealthy for a couple to be together 24 hours a day. You can't help but get on each other's nerves. Remember the old saying, "Don't bring your work problems home." Well, the reverse is true: "Don't bring your home problems to work." It's easy to tell when you've had a fight. You continue it on the job and make everyone uncomfortable.

So please take this suggestion in the spirit intended. Quit — one of you — before both of you are replaced. — In The Know

Dear In: Generally speaking, I agree with your admonition, but there are exceptions.

When the couple owns or runs the business there is less chance for the kind of trouble you describe. It's when they fight on somebody else's payroll that they run into problems.

Dear Ann Landers: I am concerned about the 18-year-old boy who felt guilty because he didn't shed a tear at his grandmother's funeral but when his cat died he couldn't stop crying.

You may have been right when you said it was because he was emotionally involved with his cat but not with his grandmother. Please consider another possibility.

Some people experience a delayed reaction to grief. They may feel the loss so deeply they are numbed into a state of shock. Or they keep their feelings penned in because they are afraid of going to pieces.

Later on, sometimes months after the event, they find release by overreacting to something of minor significance.

Please print this letter. The boy who wrote probably feels enough guilt without being told he didn't care about his grandmother. No one has experienced everything and that's why I'm bold enough to differ with you. — L.R.

Dear L.R.: Your explanation is as good as mine. Either of us may be right. No one should feel guilty because he lacks emotional involvement with another human being. If there's no chemistry — there's no chemistry. Respect, admiration and good will are noble, too.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 20 and in love with Rick, age 21. Last year I gave birth to a beautiful baby girl. Rick's mother didn't believe the baby was his. Naturally this created some hard feelings between her and me. She began to work on Rick and we started to argue a lot. Finally we agreed to stop seeing each other for a while and maybe get back together in a few months.

Two weeks ago, I learned from a mutual friend that Rick married someone else. (A girl his mother liked.)

I never asked him for support money and he never offered any. This baby IS Rick's and many people feel he has some responsibility to her. Is it too late? — Jane

Dear Jane: You need a lawyer. If you can't afford one, look up Legal Aid in the directory. They do a wonderful job.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers's booklet, "Marriage — What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Turkey offers lots of protein

Nobody getting ready for Thanksgiving dinner should forget that turkey has more protein and less fat per ounce that does beefsteak. Incidentally, that so-called self-basting turkey most probably contains soy bean or corn oil, not butter. And did I tell you that a growing turkey puts on about a pound for every pound and a half of food it eats? Pretty efficient little mill, that turk.

JAPANESE ART

Q. "I've read that some special Japanese craftsmen before World War II went out to sea to put lacquer on their finest art objects. Why?"

A. Two reasons. To avoid dust. And to work in moist air. Their lacquers did not cure well in dry air but needed moisture to reach maximum hardness.

It has been asked repeatedly here and elsewhere but never satisfactorily explained, as far as I know, just why it is that when a man comes inside from the cold he almost invaribly stands with his back to the fire to get warm while a woman most usually stands facing the flames.

Another reason those little fish called guppies multiply so swiftly is the female offspring outnumber the male by two to one.

GOOD ANSWER

Years ago during Army basic training at Fort Ord, Calif., a bunch of us recruits were ordered to walk abreast the length of a parade field to pick up any paper, bottle caps and cigarette butts we could find along the way. At the far end, the sergeant froze us in position, then strolled down that skirmish line, examining hands opened palms up. Those containing litter belonged to men immediately granted weekend passes. Mine were empty. The sergeant snapped, "What did you pick up?" I said, "Cigarette butts, and field stripped them." He said, "Good answer! You get a pass." This infinitesimal incident comes to mind upon reading about an investigator for a major metropolitan consumer affairs office who recently checked out numerous cans labled pork and beans. He asked the packer why he found no pork in any of them. The packer said, "The pork has been ground up finely and is not visible to the naked eye, sir." Would you grant that packer a pass for the weekend?

Dr. Miller

Affectionate cat drools

DEAR DR. MILLER: Maude's a cat who really craves attention. She'd rather be petted than eat, really. She insists on it, nuzzles at your hand or arm until you start. The only problem is her dumb drooling. She gets this glazed look in her eye, starts to drool and then shakes it all over the place. Why? — T.J.

DEAR T.J.: Cats aren't the only species that need touching, though mushy Maude is an outstanding example of the power of petting. It is indeed, for many cats, the strongest bond between them and their owners. Some cats become so ecstatic during the stroking that they regress into a kitten-like stage which may include a nursing-type kneeding movement and frequently drooling. (Some cats, when nervous, will drool too, but the difference in demeanor is obvious).

DEAR DR. MILLER: Beaumont is a very precocious three-and-a-half-month old pup. I know he could make it, but they won't accept him for class until he is six months old. I hate to wait that long to train him because he's already picking up bad habits. If I tutor him according to the book at home, will this hurt him? — R.K.

DEAR R.K.: If Beaumont benefits from the book, it would be because you know how to interpret it and how to handle him. Improper training could confuse him from here on. At three-and-a-half-months, he will require more training sessions than he would if he were started at six months. But if you start now, he is likely to be a better trained dog in the end. The lessons now must be shorter and further apart. But, learning to learn at an earlier age is not only good for the puppy, it helps to reduce the number of bad habits that must be weeded out at some future date.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Right now, Kinky (he's got one in his tail, that's why I named him that) is getting lettuce and corn to eat. How much should he be eating in a day? Also, he's quite noisy. Are they? Oh, my. I almost forgot to tell you. Kinky is a wood rat. — J.J.

DEAR J.J.: Kinky could be expected to put away about a quarter of a cup of corn kernels and approximately a quarter head of lettuce in a 24-hour period. Healthy wood rats tend to be active and noisy.

Novels are exhausting reading

I don't know about any other women, but I'm exhausted from reading novels that awaken me sexually and intellectually.

I want to shout, "Knock it off! I'm awake already."

As I nodded over a current novel the other night in bed, my husband nudged me and said, "What are you reading?"

I blinked myself awake. "It's a sensual discovery manual that says I am consumed with self-loathing and misdirected aggressions. Is there any popcorn left or did you eat it all?"

"Only the burnt ones are left. Doesn't that upset you? All that self-analysis?"

"Not really. I have to search for the woof and warp of my own existence."

"What does that mean?"

"I'm not sure, but I'm hungry all the time."

He picked up the book and for a couple of minutes was engrossed in it. Then he put it down and said, "This reminds me, did the part come in for my lawn sweeper."

"No, I have to check again Tuesday. Incidentally, are you reading anything I can take out of town with me next weekend?"

"What's wrong with this book?"

"Are you crazy? Do you want the entire plane to know I am being sexually and intellectually stimulated?"

"Where does it say that?"

"Right here on the cover alongside the fuzzy picture."

"Men don't read all this stuff. How come women do?"

"Because we used to read trashy novels and that was bad for us."

"What's the difference between a trash novel and this?"

"Two things. The dirty words are eight-letter and it's a book club alternate."

"How much longer are you going to read? That light is shining right into my eyes."

"Just as soon as I finish the chapter on fantasies."

"You fantasize?" he asked, sitting upright.

"All the time. I have this one recurring one. I am on a train in a compartment going into the city. Across from me is a good-looking stranger. We are both reading the same book, 'Don't Let the Warranty Run Out on Your Sex Life.' Finally, our eyes meet. He puts down his book, leans over and whispers, "Do you understand a word of this book?" and I reply cooly, "But of course."

Good night.

Good night.

Mumps can cause sterility

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 21 and my husband is 33. When my husband was 15 he caught the mumps and they went down in one testicle. We have been married for two years and have been trying desperately to conceive a baby and I have had no luck.

About a year ago my husband went to see his doctor about it and he told him this did not mean he was sterile (as we had thought). It just meant our chances of conceiving would be smaller and that all of our children would be of the same sex.

A year and half has passed and still I'm not able to get pregnant. I have a child by a previous marriage. What I'd really like to know is, what are our chances of having a baby?

DEAR READER — It is true that mumps that involve the testicles can cause a man to be sterile. However, many times the man recovers entirely and he is just as able as the next man to father children.

The involvement of only one testicle would suggest that the other one would be normal. In fact, as occurs with many paired organs the uninvolved one may enlarge to compensate for the weak one. We see this in people with one kidney, for example, the other kidney may be larger than normal.

There is absolutely nothing to the statement that all your children will be of the same sex. A man does not produce sperm for male children from one testicle and females from another. That is about as far-fetched as the city kid's idea that one teat of a cow is for chocolate milk, another for cream, another for buttermilk and the last for whole milk. I am sure you have misunderstood what the doctor said.

There is only one good way to find out what your chances of having a baby really are. Your husband should have a sperm count. If he has sufficient or even a borderline amount of healthy sperm cells the chances of your having a baby are pretty good. Sometimes improvement in overall medical conditions can improve a person's fertility — male or female. Men or women low in thyroid may benefit from thyroid medication. There is also some evidence now that men will benefit from taking the fertility pill often used in women who do not ovulate. This would probably be most applicable to the man with some but not enough healthy sperm cells. Apparently the fertility pills stimulate an increased production of sperm in the male just as they increase the production or release of ova from a woman's ovaries.

And to increase the sperm count somewhat, if there are healthy sperm, it is well to limit the attempts to get pregnant to every other night. When a doctor does a sperm count he wants a specimen after abstinence for two or three days. Why? To get the best specimen with the most healthy sperm cells. For pregnancy it is best to produce an equally optimal specimen. The sperm cells live for two to three days in the womb.

Finally, don't overlook the possibility that even though you have had one child, may not be as fertile as you once were.

Impotence can be caused by diseases and hormone deficiencies but most often from psychological factors. For more information on this problem send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 3-12, Impotence. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Over 40 years ago I had a kidney removed because of tuberculosis of the kidney at age 22.

Is it possible to have a kidney transplant, either at the place where the kidney was removed or to replace the remaining kidney?

DEAR READER — You didn't say why you asked the question, but it is possible, if your general medical condition will tolerate surgery, and if you need it. Of course, the usual matching problem exists. A transplanted kidney can be placed in many areas. Some are placed in the pelvis. You could also use an artificial kidney if your condition required it.

Astrographs

For Friday, Nov. 5, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll have to look out for No. 1 today if something material is at stake. Those you deal with will be protecting their own interests.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Victory comes to you through persistence. Don't be discouraged if things start out slowly. You'll win by hanging in there.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep your own counsel today, rather than discussing your problems with others. You'll find the solution if you get off alone.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Seek a change of pace later in the day. Put your worldly concerns aside temporarily. Do something that's fun with friends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Challenge brings out the best in you today. You'll see what I mean if you're confronted by someone seeking a little healthy competition.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take a firm position on issues you feel strongly about today. Stand up and defend your cause the best way you know how.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't be afraid to negotiate a bit forcefully today in business. You won't get what you want if you're wishywashy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Take into consideration the views of companions and associates today. They may have a better approach to things than you do.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's possible you could be burning the midnight oil tonight because you've put off tasks till the last minute. Get an early start.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Sometimes it's necessary to take a calculated risk. Don't play things so close to the vest today that you let opportunity slip away.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be prepared to make a few concessions today if it will keep everyone happy. Being obstinate could be a disadvantage to you, too.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If shopping today, don't pay more for items than you know them to be worth. You won't be remorseful later if you are cost-conscious now.

Your Birthday, Nov. 5, 1976

You will develop some interesting new associations with persons in the business community this year. They could help further your financial interests.

Biggest ideas thrown away

A stroller walking along the lake paused to watch a fisherman reeling in fish after fish. Each one was carefully measured. If it was ten inches or less, he kept it in his bucket. But every fish that measured over ten inches was thrown back into the lake. The puzzled observer could contain himself no longer and finally quizzed the fisherman, "Why do you throw the big ones away and keep the little ones?"

Without taking his eye off his line, he said, "My frying pan is only ten inches!"

Now, let me tell you that fisherman's name. His name is my name — and yours! For the biggest ideas that have ever come to us we have thrown away, while we grab hold of the small and safe ideas.

Chances are you can't even remember the biggest ideas you once had. For they were "impossible" — and you knew it! But the truth is, God's ideas that He sends into our minds are always "impossible." The next time a big, beautiful, impossible idea comes, pray about it! It might be God giving you your great opportunity.

Circus animals leave bonanza for gardeners

CHICAGO (AP) — They came to the circus with wheelbarrows, baskets and plastic bags, eager to shovel up what the performing tigers, llamas and elephants had left.

About 100 gardening enthusiasts turned out recently as Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus pitched its props in the International Amphitheater and announced that it had half a ton of mineral-rich, organic fertilizer to give away.

"We got the surprise of our lives," a spokesman said of the turnout. He said the crowd consisted of "mothers and their children, old men, old women, young men, young women. All had green thumbs.

Circus officials said that every Thursday from 10 a.m. until noon the collection of droppings will be given away to anyone who brings his own container. The idea is to help defray the estimated $6,000 expense of hiring a scavenger service.

An elderly man who said he had a small garden smiled gratefully: "This stuff is so good those circus people could be selling it. Just goes to show that a sucker is born every minute." Appropriately, he was paraphrasing a remark of the late P.T. Barnum.

The circus spokesman said the manure is "pure, unadulterated fertilizer, not sprayed with any harmful chemicals. It is superior to others because of the rich and varied diet of the animals. And the price is right."

Wallace Yost, 55, said he got the idea to collect the manure six years ago when the circus came to town.

"I remember going there early one day and bribing a fellow to let me in by giving him a cake," said Yost. "He's let me in each year since. Now everybody is in on the take. But there is plenty for everyone.

"I've found it ideal for my pear and apple trees. The fruit grows bigger. I sometimes would bring a bag of apples to feed to the elephants, starting a cycle.

Membership services director is named

MARGUERITE THORESON

The newly appointed director of membership services for Spanish Trails Girl Scout Council is Mrs. Marguerite Thoreson of Diamond Bar. She has been a Girl Scout for almost as long as she can remember and has served Scouting throughout her adult years.

As a field director, Mrs. Thoreson worked in many council communities. She served as executive director in the San Francisco Bay area's Contra Costa County. She held administrative volunteer posts throughout the years while her children were young and served as executive director for the El Monte-La Puente Council during the final stages before its merger into Spanish Trails.

She is currently serving her second year as president of the Pomona Coordinating Council and is Church and Society chairman at Trinity United Methodist Church in Pomona. She is also active in Zonta, a classified women's service group.

Pythian unit will honor grand chief

Pomona Pythian Sisters will meet this evening at 455 Pomona Mall West. Making her official visit at that time will be Mrs. Harriett Haeger, grand chief of California.

A candlelight service will be held during the evening and a social hour is planned at the close of the meeting.

Holiday bazaar charted

The first annual Christmas bazaar of the Rick Las Cano Chapter, City of Hope, is planned Nov. 14 in the Montclair Plaza, Montclair.

Norma Brier, chairman is also being assisted by the chapter members. Items range in a variety of categories which include jewelry, baked goods, boutique items and other items of interest which will be on sale from noon until 5 p.m., according to Mrs. Merci LasCano, president of the chapter.

All procedes from this event will go the the City of Hope.

"Gifts for Hope" the project theme of our chapter, was voted most popular this year by City of Hope.

Italian art

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Memorial Art Gallery of the University of Rochester recently acquired a 16th-century Italian painting it calls "rare and important."

The painting is by Niccolo dell'Abbate. Gallery director John A. Mahey says it was "one of the great acquisitions made by an American museum this year, and certainly one of the greatest in the Memorial Art Gallery's history."

Valley winners revealed by club

Virginia Mitchel received her third certificate award of merit in the juvenile open contests at the October meeting of the Pomona Valley Writer's Club. Her winning entry was "Simon Strikes Back." Mrs. Mitchel will be presented a special award at the next meeting.

Other entries were: "The Squirrel Who Discovered Christmas," Florence Lovgren, Ontario, second place; "A Day At School," Elizabeth Doidge, Cucamonga; and, "How the Jack-O-Lantern Got Its Smile," Colleen Riggs, Etiwanda, and "An Unforgettable Fourth" by Jo Krizek, Cucamonga.

Entries in the non-fiction contest were: "Teacher's Subtract Tradition" by Walt Brasch, Ontario, first place; "Take Care Of Today," Flo Swanson, Chino, second place; "Love At First Sight," Elizabeth Doidge, third place.

Open contests in fiction and poetry will be held at 7 p.m. Nov. 16, when the Pomona Valley Writer's Club meets in the Ontario Public Library Garden Room. Members are reminded to submit manuscripts for judging in the December Christmas contest at that time. The nominations and election of new officers is scheduled then.

Anyone interested in creative writing is invited to attend. For further information call Flo Swanson, 628-8222, or Kit Vargo, 984-1684.

Suicide Possibility

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My brother committed suicide in his early 20s and perhaps this is why I'm so concerned about my son who goes into periods of depression. Doctors haven't helped him. He started drinking in his early teens and now drinks, he says, to give him a lift. I also worry because he drives fast. My wife says I worry needlessly, that he's perfectly healthy. Are there any signs we can look for to help us spot a possible suicide? — K.O.

Dear K.O.: There are signals or quiet cries for help that usually go unheard, not because we don't care, but because we're not trained to listen to, or to see, subtle clues.

Of course, anyone who has ever made a suicide attempt or anyone who talks a great deal about suicide should be closely watched.

There are other things that, under certain circumstances, might be clues to suicide: A person may start to give away his favorite possessions, or ask questions, such as, "Is there anything I have that you'd really like?" or "If I weren't here, could you get someone to take care of the yard?" or "What would happen to mother if I took a trip and didn't come back?"

A person who drinks heavily or uses drugs also needs watching.

You should encourage your son not to drink. He may think alcohol is a stimulant, but it actually is a sedative and depressant. He is taking into his system something that is going to make him more depressed.

I believe you should consider the possibility that his depression is closely related to his dirinking, especially if it started in his early teens.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Our 16-year-old daughter ran away twice this past year but fortunately was found both times. We live in a rather small town and have, I think, a lovely home. My daughter has almost everything she could wish for. I can't understand what gets into children these days. We never had one eighth of what our children have. — L.P.

Dear L.P.: Running away is easier today for adolescents than it was for previous generations because there is still enough money around so that few youngsters have to starve or sleep in the cold. They usually hitchhike, often getting rides with parents who are worried about their own children, and unless they're in urban areas, it usually isn't too difficult to find someone who will buy them meals out of mere goodness. As Dr. Helm Sterlin of the National Institute of Mental Health says, runaways float on our affluence.

Running away, however, is a sign of a breakdown in family communications. The youngster who can talk to his parents and has always, or almost always, been able to exchange opinions freely with his parents isn't apt to run away.

Usually, when a youngster leaves home there has been some kind of family discord, often because of what the child feels are over-excessive restrictions, problems at school, fear of pregnancy, trouble with drugs. Sometimes, a child runs because he simply is adventurous and sees leaving home as a way of finding himself.

Often, running away is a sign of emotional disturbance — almost always it is a cry for help and the family who has a runaway needs to take a very close look at the child and the home environment.

Broberg-Gough vows exchanged

The United Methodist Church in La Verne was the setting for the marriage of Victoria Lynn Gough of La Verne and Andrew D. Broberg of Poway. The couple were married by the Rev. Tom Thompson in a double-ring ceremony followed by a reception at Griswold's Inn in Claremont.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gough of La Verne. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Broberg of Poway.

Miss Kathryn Gough of La Verne was honor attendant. Serving as best man was Sam Broberg of Valencia. Other attendants were Tricia Gough of La Verne; Bridget O'Neill of Pomona; Monte Jane Broberg of Valencia; Richard Paulson of Pomona; Gerdan Duncan of San Juan Capistrano; and T.J. Carter of Las Vegas, Nev.

The newlyweds honeymooned at San Francisco and Lake Tahoe and are at home in Carlsbad.

Out of bed

One psychologist cures patients with insomnia by having them get out of bed if they remain awake for longer than 10 minutes — the process is continued until sleep comes quickly.

The Girl Guide movement began in England in 1909.

Aglow meeting charted

The Walnut Chapter of Women's Aglow Fellowship will hold its breakfast meeting Nov. 17. The breakfast will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Pomona National Golf Course, 20055 Colima Road, Walnut. Reservations are required.

Guest speaker will be Noeske Visser. Noeske was born in Indonesia, and has traveled many areas of Europe. Her Bible in one hand, guitar in the other, she follows wherever the Lord leads. Noeske has just returned from a six-week tour of Europe.

Reservations for the breakfast may be made by calling 595-0236 by Nov. 12.

The earliest official poet laureate was John Dryden.

Svea Lodge plans booth at bazaar

Svea Lodge will have a booth at the Montclair Plaza Charity Bazaar Nov. 14, from noon to 5 p.m. Most items have been handcrafted by Svea members.

Gust Lundberg, Pomona, is chairman of the woodcraft. The men have made decorated candelabras, small stools, cutting boards, and peasant cooking and serving sets, made from century-old imported, pungent Juniper wood. By law, these trees must grow for one hundred years before they are cut. This hardwood will not crack or warp.

Mrs. Bertha Schmidt, Pomona, is chairman of the women's handicrafted items, including hand painted porcelain by Carin Winlof, miniature paintings, bread dough bowls, solid plaque raised decoupage (no hobby kits), Christmas decorations, Jultomtar, dolls, wind chimes and other things.

Mrs. Marian Curtiss, Pomona, is chairman of the Swedish and American bakery.

Last year Svea Lodge was given, by the Montclair Plaza Business Association, an award of $25 for unusual craft and booth decoration. Svea Lodge included this gift in making a $100 donation to the Vasa Violin Scholarship Fund. Nora Oakley, Seal Beach, college student, was sent last summer to study under Anton Jernberg, Uppsala, Sweden. This scholarship is to train students in the old music of Sweden.

Svea Lodge is a chapter of the Vasa Order of America and was chartered in Pomona in 1927. The group meets on the fourth Saturday of the month. The purpose is for people of Scandinavian ancestry to work together to preserve their culture and heritage and enjoy social affairs. Any interested person may phone Mrs. Mary Peterson, 626-3263, or Mrs. Viola Hirning 213-336-4307, for more information.

Upland clubwomen plan several parties

The activities of the Upland Woman's Club for November will begin Friday when the group hosts a reception and tea at 1 p.m. for the California Federation of Women's Clubs, San Bernardino District to honor state officers. The affair will be held in the clubhouse with Mrs. B. J. Helwick as chairman.

Mrs. Rae Nichols, membership chairman, will be in charge of a tea for new and prospective members at 2 p.m., Monday, at the clubhouse. Mrs. Raymond Helroyd, CFWC District membership chairman, will discuss club membership.

Barbara Payne Cheatley will discuss antiques at the noon meeting of the club Tuesday at the clubhouse. An informal discussion of the antiques brought for display by club members is planned.

During November and December articles for purchase will be available at the boutique table.

Reunion set for British club groups

A reunion for former members of Mersyside, Maid Marian and Banbury Cross chapters of the Daughters of the British Empire will be held Friday evening at Upland Cascade Mobile Home Park, 1350 San Bernardino Road, Upland, at the clubhouse at 7:30 p.m.

Women interested in attending should bring a dessert. Beverages will be furnished. More information may be obtained by calling 624-7746.

Wedding, betrothal forms are available

Engagement and wedding announcement forms may be picked up at the Progress Bulletin office in the Family Section department between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Wedding forms must be printed or typed and may be submitted with a black and white photograph. Only professionally done or high quality 35mm black and white photographs can be accepted for the weddings and they are to be portraits of the bride alone. The Progress Bulletin reserves the right to accept or reject all photographs submitted. Forms and pictures are to be turned in to the department within two weeks after the wedding.

Engagement forms, also printed or typed, are used if turned in at least six weeks prior to the wedding. On occasion, a color photo may be used with an engagement announcement, but no assurance is given that all color photography is suitable for this purpose.

All forms must carry a telephone number where a family member can be contacted during working hours to answer any possible questions relating to the form.

Nuclear safeguards turned down

By The Associated Press

Environmentalists have suffered a setback in their efforts to impose strict safety controls on nuclear power plants, but they fared better in their campaign to cut down the use of nonreturnable bottles and cans.

Proposals that would have limited nuclear development, generally by requiring stringent safety measures and compensation for accidents, were defeated easily in Washington, Oregon, Colorado, Ohio, Arizona and Montana, where opponents had spent heavily.

Supporters of the measures claimed they were justified by the hazard posed by nuclear power; opponents said they would hamper nuclear development and lead to electricity shortages. A similar antinuclear measure was defeated in California in June.

In Washington, the vote was 62 per cent against to only 38 per cent for. In Oregon, the vote was 58 to 42 against; in Colorado and Arizona, it was 70 to 30 against; in Ohio, it was 68 to 32 against; and in Montana it was 60 to 40 against.

Measures designed to ban or at least require deposits on most nonreturnable beverage containers were approved in Maine — by a 58 per cent to 42 per cent vote — and Michigan — by a 63 per cent to 37 per cent vote. A similar measure in Colorado was defeated 68 per cent to 32 per cent.

The contest in Massachusetts — where opponents spent more than $1 million to try to defeat the proposal banning pull-tab tops and requiring deposits on other beverage containers — was too close to call.

Similar measures already are law in Oregon and Vermont. Supporters claim the bans save raw materials, cut costs and reduce litter. Opponents say they cause inconvenience to consumers, higher manufacturing costs and loss of jobs.

In other key referenda on ballots across the country:

—New Jersey voters approved a plan to allow casino gambling in Atlantic City, the decaying coast resort. A proposal to permit gambling in communities which desire it was defeated two years ago, but the Atlantic City proposal won this year by a 56 to 44 vote. "My friends, this city's alive again tonight," said Sanford L. Weiner, who headed the drive to okay the casinos.

—California voters said no to a proposal to legalize greyhound racing as a means of providing tax relief. Opponents had said the plan would enable organized crime to move in.

—A proposal to ban handguns in Massachusetts, prohibiting both the sale and the ownership of the weapons, was defeated.

—A proposal to allow a sweepstakes in Colorado was approved; a measure that would have authorized state-run slot machines in Delaware was defeated; and supporters of a proposal to exempt nonprofit bingo games from the state lottery laws in Georgia were leading opponents.

Business briefs

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A job hunt has begun for 250 Union Carbide Corp. Employes furloughed because their employer is going out of the disposable diaper business.

The New York-based corporation said Wednesday it will try and move many members of the Drydees plant here into other plants but no firm plans have been made.

Union Carbide says it intends to keep the 300,000-square-foot plant and consider using it for other purposes.

The company said market penetration of its product was successful in its test markets and "prospects for ultimate success seemed favorable." But it added that the projected cost of reaching the goal was so much that the firm could not continue the business.

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Olin Corp. will increase its price of Thermolin RF-230 chlorinated polyol by 6 cents a pound to 69.5 cents, effect Dec. 1, 1976.

The price is for bulk 40,000-pound minimum quantities.

Thermolin is a reactive flame retardant for urethane foam used chiefly for construction and refrigeration applications, the company said.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet industrial production in the first nine months of 1976 was 4.8 per cent above 1975 levels, according to official statistics made public Saturday. The Central Statistical Board said the industrial sector was continuing to grow above planned rates and that output targets had been exceeded in most important areas of industry.

Above-plan industrial production from January to September was worth 4.5 billion rubles, the government said, equal to about $5.9 billion at the official exchange rate.

Bridge by Jacobys

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

A and B, who used to defend all the auction bridge hands in the '20's, are too old to play much duplicate any more, but they had put in an appearance for an afternoon game. Sitting East and West they had very few hands to play and with their long practice in defense had a good chance to win the duplicate when they defended the last hand.

B opened with one diamond in the East seat. After South jumped to four spades, A proceeded to double. North redoubled and A opened his deuce of diamonds.

B proceeded to cash three diamond tricks and A carefully discarded the deuce of hearts on the second diamond and the ace of hearts on the third one. Now B led a heart and A ruffed to set South one trick and give A and B a top score.

"What a magnificent play," said South. "I bet that you are the only pair to set four spades."

"Probably so," replied A, "but back in 1927 or 28 B and I beat a spade game in Wilbur Whitehead's column by that same play. I knew we weren't going to beat you more than one trick. This was a safety play just in case you were void of hearts."

Koo papers

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University was recently presented with the oral history memoirs of V.K. Wellington Koo, until 1967 a leading Chinese diplomat of the Republican Period.

Transcribed on more than 11,000 pages, the work is believed to be the longest oral history project ever produced.

Ask the Jacobys

The gremlins got to us in one of our answers a couple of months ago. The bidding was supposed to have proceeded three clubs-pass-pass-double, but somehow or other an extra pass got in.

The double after two passes is for takeout. The double after three passes is for the birds.

Russia supplying parts for new NATO fighter

LONDON (AP) — Metal imported from the Soviet Union is being used to make a vital part of a new NATO combat plane, the British government says.

The light, silvery titanium is used for swing-wing pivots in the Tornado, a 1,300-mile-an-hour combat jet being built jointly by Britain, West Germany and Italy for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Production is expected to start in 1978.

Junior Defense Minister John Gilbert confirmed the Soviet origin in answer to a question raised in the House of Commons. Labor member Jeff Rooker said the materials for the $8.5-million plane should come from NATO countries. He said two British firms can supply titanium, but that the Soviets undercut British prices by half.

NOW $1000 WORTH OF OPTIONS FOR ONLY $200.
INTRODUCING THE LIMITED EDITION AUDI 100LS.
On the limited edition Audi, you get air conditioning, automatic transmission, cruise control, wheel covers. A total of $1,000 worth of options for only $200.
But that's not all you get. The limited edition Audi isn't a stripped down car. In addition to the special options, it's loaded with standard features you might have to pay extra for on some other cars.
Like power steering. Power brakes. Fuel injection. Electric rear window defogger. Tinted glass. And steel-belted radials.
And, of course, all Audis give you the excellent performance and handling characteristics of precision German engineering.
Like front-wheel drive, for greater tracking and cornering. Rack-and-pinion steering, the most direct type of steering system there is. Dual diagonal brakes, where in case one circuit fails, the other still operates. And independent front suspension, for additional stability and a smoother ride.
So visit your local Audi dealer soon and test drive the limited edition Audi 100LS. But hurry.
You'd be amazed at how fast a luxury car loaded with so many options can move.

'Vanities'

Forum presents Heifner comedy

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

"Vanities," Jack Heifner's comedy which bows tonight at the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center is a talky, uneventful and perplexing play about three high school cheer leaders and how they made out (sorry) in a college sorority and the Real World. It is perplexing why anyone staged it.

The three little maids from school are Lucie Arnaz, Stockard Channing and Sandy Duncan, attractive females of modest talents. The pace is slow, the level of wit at ebb tide, and the characterizations as thin as the nail polish, but not as colorful. The show should be subtitled "As the Baton Twirls."

"Vanities" is a nostalgic play — if you're nostalgic about the '60s. It opens with the girls planning the high school prom and the cheers for the resident football team. ("You can't yell 'Go all the way!' on a football field," gasps one of the ingenues. "What would people think?") If this appeals to your sense of humor, you may enjoy the evening.

After much jiggling and giggling as high school girls, circa 1963, they move onto college five years later with less giggling but more jiggling, and a concern for the more serious things in life — decorations for the junior prom and cheers for the football team. We are treated to more eyelash curling, wig combing and lipstick smearing than a month in the beauty parlor. Act III finds our heroines reuniting six years after college, and we discover How They All Turned Out.

"Vanities" is basically a soap opera, with all the limitations and liabilities of that tedious genre — wordy, humorless, devoid of action, laden with two-dimensional characterizations. The only thing that really brought down the house at Wednesday's preview was when one of the girls ripped out a pungent four-letter word. Why this should be, I do not know.

Director Garland Wright keeps the girls moving nicely among their cosmetics and nail files, but he is working with material about as significant as the screen magazines in a beauty parlor. At the final curtain, you feel as if you'd spent an hour under the dryer.

SITTING PRETTY — Littlechap (Whitney Rydbeck) finds himself in a delightful position, surrounded by pretty girls in the Claremont Playhouse production of "Stop the World, I Want To Get Off." The Anthony Newley musical plays at 8 o'clock Thursday through Saturday nights. Reservations can be made at 621-5005.

Webb to offer mystery

The fine arts department of Webb School will present Agatha Christie's mystery thriller, "Ten Little Indians," in the auditorium at 8 p.m. next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Admission is $2.50 general, $2 for students. Reservations can be made at 626-3587.

"Ten Little Indians," considered a Christie classic, tells of a group of people invited by an unknown host to spend a weekend on an island. Soon after the guests arrive, one of them is murdered, echoing the words of the famous nursery rhyme. One by one the guests are mysteriously done away with until the few survivors solve the crimes.

The cast includes Jim Murphy as the judge; Mark Waldrop as Philip Lombard; Belinda Fulcher as Vera Claythorne, and Brad Justus, Serge Stein, Sandy Richards, Melinda Blanchard, Gary Harber, Steve Curtis and Bill Ansell.

Christopher Trussell directs.

Ecuadorian art exhibit to open

"The Ecuadorian Landscapes," an exhibition of oils by German-born Carl Barnas, will open at 3 p.m. Friday in the Clark Museum, Scripps College. It continues through Nov. 25.

LIZA MINNELLI will star in the world premiere engagement of the musical play, "In Person," as part of the 1977 season of the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera. The work, written specifically for her, will be presented in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center.

Barnas, who emigrated from Germany to Ecuador in the mid-1930s, studied painting in France and Germany. He began his career in South America by restoring Ecuadorian paintings from the Colonial period, preserving many of the oils by masters like Samaniego, Miguel de Santiago and Goribar.

After becoming an Ecuadorian citizen, he traveled widely throughout the country, painting the scenery of his new homeland. His vivid oils have been previously exhibited throughout Europe and Ecuador and in Texas and Colorado.

"Ecuadorian Landscapes" is being sponsored by the Hispanic studies department of Scripps College which combines language study with an examination of the cultural, historical, and social aspects of Spanish-speaking countries.

The Clark Museum is located in the Humanities Building. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "HOW DOES AN AEROSOL CAN SPRAY?"

JOHN CLEMENTS
SANTA CRUZ, CA

A. THE PRODUCT TO BE DISPENSED IS HELD IN THE CAN UNDER PRESSURE FROM A GAS. WHEN A VALVE IS RELEASED, THE GAS DRIVES OUT THE PRODUCT AS A SPRAY.

We often use spray cans, or aerosol cans, to spray all kinds of things such as insect spray or deodorant or paint.

To make an aerosol product, a gas, called a propellant, is put in the can under such high pressure that it turns to a liquid. A product, such as a deodorant, is mixed with the propellant.

When a button on the can is pressed, the gas pressure pushes the solution through a hollow tube to the nozzle.

There the propellant vaporizes and sprays out as a gas, carrying droplets of the deodorant with it.

In such aerosol products as whipped cream and shaving lather, the gas drives out the product as a foam.

Aerosol is a word that means a scattering of tiny liquid or solid particles in the air, such as clouds and smoke.

Clouds are natural aerosols made up of water droplets. Smoke contains bits of solid matter called soot.

Smoke, fog and certain chemicals are in the unpleasant aerosol called smog.

Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Nov., 4, the 309th day of 1976. There are 57 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1952, Dwight D. Eisenhower was elected President, defeating Democrat Adlai Stevenson. It was the first Republican presidential victory in 20 years.

On this date —

In 1520, Christian II was crowned King of Sweden.

In 1825, the first boat to reach New York City by using the Erie Canal arrived nine days after leaving Buffalo.

In 1884, Democrat Grover Cleveland was elected President.

In 1931, the League of Nations accused Japan of Aggression in Manchuria.

In 1944, in World War II, the Allies announced that Greece had been completely liberated from the Nazis.

In 1973, Senator Edward Brooke of Massachusetts became the first Republican Senator to publicly urge the resignation of President Richard M. Nixon.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union cast its 104th veto in the United Nations Security Council, killing a compromise resolution aimed at easing tensions between Israel and the Arab nations.

Five years ago: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, conferring with President Richard M. Nixon in Washington, appealed for U.S. understanding in India's confrontation with Pakistan.

One year ago: The United States closed its mission in Angola because of the violent struggle between three rival liberation groups.

Today's birthday: Comedian Art Carney is 58.

Thought for today: I always prefer to believe the best of everybody — it saves so much trouble. — Rudyard Kipling, English writer, 1865-1936.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, attendance was off at the Continental Congress in Philadelphia, and the Congress called on all the states to return their full delegations to take care of the serious business at hand.

Bonita honors Ellsworth Green

When Bonita high plays its Homecoming game against Ontario Friday night, the Homecoming ceremony will be dedicated to one of the "grand old men" of high school football, former Bonita coach Ellsworth Green.

Mr. Green, still an active citizen of La Verne at the age of 80, coached football, track, baseball and basketball on various levels at Bonita from 1926 to 1961, when he retired. In the year of his retirement, Bonita's gymnasium was given his name.

Although his career as a teacher-coach at Bonita did not begin until 1926, he actually became the first Bearcat football "coach" 10 years earlier when he was a senior attending the La Verne high school.

"Three of us boys went in to see the principal that year," Mr. Green recalled, "and said we'd like to start playing football. We asked them to provide us with football pants, shoulder pads, helmets and three balls.

"They did and I coached the team that year, even though I didn't know much about football. We played Covina High twice and Pomona High once. We lost all three."

He and his two brothers, Wellington and Marshall, made up three-fourths of the 440 and mile relay teams then at Bonita, and later at Oregon State University, where all three went. Mr. Green's times in the 100 and 220 were 10.1 and 23.2 at Bonita, but he claims that brother Wellington was even faster (10.0 in the 100). "My specialty was the 50-yard dash on the indoor track up at Oregon State," said Mr. Green.

After graduating from OSU with a degree in Mining Engineering in 1921, he went to work for Ray Consolidating Copper Company in Arizona, 50 miles east of Phoenix.

But when the price of copper went down and Ray closed its three mines temporarily, Mr. Green went to UC Berkeley and earned a teaching credential.

He then went to work for Ray, which opened one of its mines again, but saw a more secure future in teaching and began his career at Lompoc High.

He started a football program at Lompoc, and coached a semi-pro team as well while living there. He left Lompoc for El Centro Junior College, where he started another football program. Then it was back to Bonita, in 1926.

Bonita wanted him

"I came up to an Alumni banquet," said Mr. Green, "and Mr. Rudolph Fisher, my former teach, and the principal, William Randall, asked me if I'd consider changing to Bonita. I was quite happy where I was, but my wife didn't like El Centro because it was too hot and we had to clear out every summer. So to accomodate my wife, I came to Bonita."

Afterwards, he was glad he did. "I liked it very much," he said.

Apparently the feeling was mutual, since Bonita has named its gym after and will now dedicate its Homecoming to the native of Chicago who moved to La Verne in 1912 and taught chemistry and physics and coached four sports at the high school for 35 years.

* * *

On the subject of dedications, a much sadder tribute is being paid to a 17-year-old youngster who died last week.

Terry Ludwig, a senior cross country runner on Pomona High's team, collapsed and later died following surgery for a blod clot on his brain.

To honor his memory, Pomona High will bestow annually the Terry Ludwig-Rick Spence Memorial Cross Country Award to the runner who is judged tops on the team in terms of inspiration and leadership. Rick Spence is a former Pomona High cross country runner who died earlier this year in a swimming accident on the Colorado River.

"Terry was loved by everybody," said coach Frank Hardy. "He was a captain on the cross country team and had already been elected a track captain for the spring. He was like an assistant coach for me, the way he worked with and helped the other kids."

Anyone interested in contributing to the fund to provide the annual Terry Ludwig-Rick Spence Award may contact Hardy or Gene Abernathy at Pomona High.

Big game awaits MSAC

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

The biggest football game for Mt. San Antonio College of this, or perhaps any, season awaits the Mounties Saturday night at Anaheim Stadium.

The Mounties, leading the powerful South Coast Conference with a 2-0-1 mark, will face a stern test when they meet up with second-place Fullerton College (3-1) in a showdown for the SCC lead.

Saturday's winner figures to have the inside track on the conference title. Fullerton has only one game left after the Mounties, while MSAC has two, but it's doubtful if Saturday's victor will lose again in SCC play.

Also riding on Saturday's contest at the Big A is a possible shot at the Junior Rose Bowl berth. The South Coast champion is generally regarded as the favorite to wind up playing in the JRB, although that champ would have to defeat the Southern California Conference titlist (probably Santa Monica) in the Avocado Bowl, Dec. 4 at Cerritos College, to earn a trip to Pasadena.

All that post-season action will be academic, however, for Saturday's loser between the Mounties and Hornets.

Fullerton, 6-2 on the year, has all the momentum going its way going into Saturday's showdown. In fact, the Hornets should be regarded as the favorites in the game, according to Mountie skipper Mal Eaton.

"I felt that Fullerton was the team to beat in our conference prior to the start of the year, and I still feel that way," Eaton insisted. "They have tremendous talent at all positions, they're just a super team. How they lost two games is beyond me.

"I know they will be ready for us, we both know the conference championship will be riding on the game," Eaton continued. "They have it going now, with big wins over Orange Coast (30-0) and Grossmont (14-7). We will have to play our best ball to stay with them."

Indeed, for a club with two losses Fullerton's statistics and personnel are awesome. The Hornets lead the SCC team stats in both total offense and total defense. They have been averaging 376 yards per outing on offense and have surrendered an average of only 246 yards per game on defense.

Coach Hal Sherbeck's squad was regarded by most as the top JC team in the state prior to the start of the season, mainly on the strength of having 18 starters returning from last year's 7-2 squad.

However, the Hornets unexpectedly stumbled vs. Golden West in a non-league encounter and dropped their SCC opener at home to San Diego Mesa by a 28-24 count.

Since then, however, they have been unstoppable.

Sherbeck's crew has rolled past Cerritos, Orange Coast and Grossmont to challenge the Mounties for the SCC crown.

Meanwhile, the Mounties seem to have lost some of their early-season spark. Ever since an unexpected 20-20 tie with L.A. Harbor, the MSAC defense has been erratic at times and the offense, while displaying the ability to move the ball against any team, has had some trouble punching the pigskin across enemy goal-lines.

MSAC just did get by Santa Ana (13-6) and Grossmont (25-24) prior to suffering a 28-28 tie with Cerritos two weeks back.

The fact that Fullerton had dismantled the Falcons 30-14 the week prior to their tie with MSAC did not serve the Mountie cause well, and the Walnut school has dropped in the state and national JC rankings since then.

Eaton's team had a bye this past week, and the Mountie coach isn't sure if that was a good or bad thing for his crew.

"In some ways, I'd just as soon have played last week," the Mountie coach noted.

Poly's Costeldia has great hopes

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Cal Poly's Bobby Costeldia is a football player who happens to be at the wrong place at the wrong time.

There is nothing Costeldia wants to do more than play for a championship football team.

There weren't any titles at Garey High or Mt. San Antonio College when he played at those schools and time is running out for him in his second and final season at Poly.

"Both Garey and MSAC are having fantastic football seasons," Costeldia remarked while getting ready for Poly's game Saturday night at Cal State Northridge, "and we should be having a terrific season."

In case you missed it, Garey and MSAC are both undefeated thus far in first place in their respective leagues. Poly is 2-4-1 without even a league title to shoot for.

But Costeldia still has great hopes.

Poly concludes its season against Northridge, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Puget Sound — three of the better NCAA Division 2 teams on the Pacific Coast.

Considering Poly has already defeated Northern Arizona, the sixth-ranked team in the NCAA Division 2 poll, the Broncos still have a slight chance to make the playoffs if they can sweep the final three.

"These final three games mean everything to me," the big (6-4, 280-pound offensive tackle said. "It's do or die. Each game is the most important one we'll play this year."

Because of the fact the California Collegiate Athletic Association is down to only three football-playing members, there is no conference championship this year.

But the Broncs would love to sweep former CCAA foes Northridge and SLO to at least claim the mythical title.

"I've been dreaming about my senior season during the off-season and worked hard for it," he said. "We just had some bad breaks go against us early in the year."

Costeldia blames himself for some of the problems early in the year when he was coming back from a knee injury but he was fortunate to even be playing.

He thought it was all over on the Monday before the season opener when he suffered a knee injury at the Broncos' camp at Coronado.

— "I twisted my knee and tore cartilage on my kneecap," he said. "I thought I was out for the season and my football career was over."

But Costeldia saw Dr. Richard O'Connor, a West Covina surgeon, on Thursday. He underwent an operation Friday morning and played in the second half against Cal State Fullerton Saturday night.

"It was just fantastic," he said. "Dr. O'Connor used his scope to determine there was nothing wrong with my knee joint, just the kneecap. I haven't had any pain all season."

Despite coming back early to play, Costeldia wasn't happy with his performance.

"When I looked at the films, it showed I was favoring my knee," he said. "There was nothing wrong with my knee but all psychological. It took me three or four weeks to get out of that habit."

Assistant coach Tom Hoffman, who handles the offensive line, added, "Costeldia has shown steady improvement throughout the season. He has been one of the best players on the team in the standpoint of team spirit. I feel the offensive line has been the most consistent part of our team week in and week out."

Jackson first choice in draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The Montreal Expos opened baseball's first-ever re-entry draft today by selecting slugger Reggie Jackson as the No. 1 choice among the 24 players available.

Like the others, Jackson achieved free agent status by playing the 1976 season without signing a contract.

After the Expos made him the historic first choice in a selection announced by Charles Bronfman, the club's board chairman, Jackson was expected to be picked by 11 more teams who would bid for his services along with his old club, the Baltimore Orioles.

Jackson batted .277 with 27 home runs and 91 runs batted in after being traded to the Orioles by the Oakland A's just before the start of the 1976 season.

He has a career average of .267 with 281 homers in 10 major league campaigns.

The Expos, who had the poorest record in the National League last season, were followed in the drafting order by the Chicago White Sox, the bottom club in the American League.

The draft was to continue with the leagues alternating selections and teams picking in inverse order of last season's won-lost records.

The White Sox, represented by General Manager Roland Hemond, selected Oakland outfielder Joe Rudi. Rudi batted .270 with 13 homers and 94 RBI in his 10th season with the A's.

The Atlanta Braves followed by selecting Gary Matthews, an outfielder with the San Francisco Giants. The Braves were fined $10,000 by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn at the end of the season after being charged with tampering in preliminary negotiations with Matthews, who batted .279 with 20 homers and 84 RBI for the Giants.

The Milwaukee Brewers, the fourth team to choose a player, drafted Oakland third baseman Sal Bando, a veteran of 11 years with the A's. Bando batted .240 with 27 homers and 84 RBI last season.

Next came the St. Louis Cardinals, who chose relief pitcher Bill Campbell of the Minnesota Twins. Campbell had a 17-5 record and 20 saves with a 3.01 earned run average for the Twins last season, his fourth in the majors.

The Detroit Tigers picked second baseman Bobby Grich of the Baltimore Orioles. Grich batted .266 with 13 homers and 54 RBI and has spent seven seasons with the Orioles.

Rudi was selected for the second and third times in the first round by San Diego and California on the next two picks.

His Oakland teammate, relief specialist Rollie Fingers, was chosen for the first time by the San Francisco Giants. Fingers whom Oakland owner Charles O. Finley attempted to sell with Rudi to the Boston Red Sox last season, had a 13-11 record with 20 saves and a 2.54 ERA for the A's.

Next, the Texas Rangers picked another Oakland player, outfielder Don Baylor. Baylor, acquired by the A's in the deal that sent Jackson to Baltimore, batted .247 with 15 homers and 68 RBI in his only season in Oakland.

The Chicago Cubs picked Gene Tenace of the A's, the only catcher available in the free-agent pool. Tenace batted .249 with 22 homers and 66 RBI in his eighth season with the A's.

The Cleveland Indians picked pitcher Wayne Garland, a 20-game winner with the Orioles last season. He was the first starting pitcher selected in the draft. He was 20-7 with a 2.67 ERA.

The Houston Astros then went for Matthews and the Boston Red Sox chose Campbell.

Next, the New York Mets chose Matthews, then Minnesota picked Bando. The Pittsburgh Pirates went for Rudi and Oakland, which stood to lose eight players, picked Grich.

Don Gullett, Cincinnati's ace left-hander, was chosen for the first time by the Los Angeles Dodgers. Gullett, troubled by injuries the last two seasons, had an 11-3 record and 3.00 ERA with the world champion Reds. He was the winning pitcher in the opening game of the World Series against the New York Yankees.

Baltimore and Philadelphia followed the Dodgers by each choosing Rudi, then the Kansas City Royals picked Tenace.

Cincinnati stood by its predraft decision not to participate and passed. The Yankees completed the first round by selecting Grich.

Rudi was the most popular player in the opening round, selected six times by the 23 teams which participated. Grich and Matthews were each picked three times.

Tenace became the first player to be selected 12 times—the maximum—when Cleveland tabbed him on the third round. His name was then removed from the list of eligibles and the drafting continued with 23 free agents available for selection.

Baylor and Rudi became the next players eliminated when both were selected for the 12th time as the fourth round was completed.

Each team may sign two free agents except in the event that they lose more than that number through the draft.

Oakland, for example, had eight free agents in the draft and therefore could sign that many new players. Baltimore had four players eligible to be drafted by other teams and California had three minor league infielders available, allowing them to sign three free agents.

The rules of the draft specified that clubs losing players would receive no compensation. However, they would be allowed to bid for the athletes along with the 12 teams drafting them.

Stags have grid leader

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

No one is enjoying Claremont-Mudd's sudden change in fortune in football more than senior Matt Kobe.

After starting out the season with three losses, two of them by a total of three points, the Stags have caught fire in conference play.

They walloped Pomona-Pitzer, 69-35, and outscored Occidental, 31-24. This week they will carry a 2-0 record into their clash with defending co-champion Redlands (also 2-0).

"It's a super feeling to be playing for the championship," Kobe said. "I haven't felt like this since my senior year in high school."

Kobe, a 5-11, 208-pound linebacker who moves to middle guard in certain defenses, is one of the keys to the Stags' turnaround.

"About 10 or 11 of us seniors got together and had a soul-searching meeting before the conference play started," he revealed. "We decided it was about time we started playing football.

"This was it for us and we really got a lot of things aired out. We decided we had to put together more effort in practice, in game preparation, everything. We had to rededicate ourselves to our final year in football. We knew if we could do that, we could instill that attitude in the rest of the team.

"We feel we've turned it around now," he concluded. We feel we should be 5-1 counting Caltech. We think we're one of the best teams in the district."

Kobe, a four-year starter for coach John Zinda, is called "Captain Crazy" by assistant coach Steve Roper.

"A lot of times they think I'm losing control out there," Kobe grinned. "But I'm not. It's just that football is an aggressive game and you have to play it aggressively.

"Linebacker fits my personality. People think playing defense is nothing but hitting, but you hit more on offense. A linebacker might get hit three times before he gets a chance to unload on somebody. So you have to play aggressively."

Kobe had a fine game against Oxy last week. His five unassisted tackles and 11 assists earned him Small College Player of the week honors by the Southern California Sportscasters Association.

"Of course I'm really happy," Kobe said. "But I would have to say when your defensive line is caving down their offensive line, it makes it a lot easier.

"You can win a hundred awards, but if we don't beat Redlands it won't mean that much. At the end of the season, I want that team picture to say conference champions.

"Also, I want to remember all the friendships I've accumulated in four years," he concluded. "That's why we're winning. We know our best friends are right there next to us. We're playing for the guy next to us. Our whole team is built on friendship. It's like our team is a microcosm of what the world should be."

Kobe was born in Pocatello, Ida. but moved to Torrance when he was six. At North Torrance High he earned All-Bay League honors as a linebacker and also was named team captain, MVP and Most Inspirational Player.

"I only weighed about 165 pounds," he laughed. "So I knew not very many major colleges were going to be knocking down my door. However, I did have a few offers from some smaller colleges including Columbia in New York City. My coach, Steve Schmidt, sat down and started writing letters to different schools and got a few replies.

"I narrowed it down to Columbia, College of Idaho and Claremont Men's. I heard about Claremont's academic reputation so I came out to visit, liked it, liked coach Zinda and decided to come here."

Webb's Richards wins prep honor

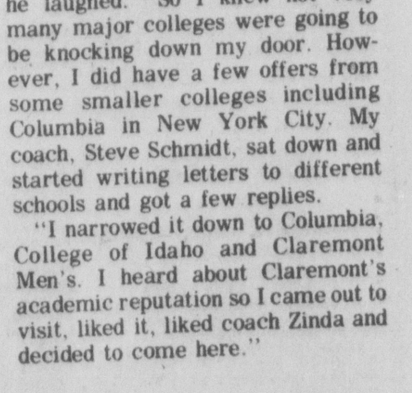
John Richards of Webb School has been named the Progress Bulletin's Prep Athlete of the Week for his performance in the Gauls' 20-18 football win over Orange Lutheran last week.

Richards, a 5-foot-11, 158-pound junior who has started at defensive safety all year, was thrust into a starting offensive halfback role by injuries to regular starters and responded with an outstanding two-way effort.

He carried the ball 29 times for 143 yards and two touchdowns, with 122 of those yards coming on 22 second-half carries. In addition, Richards caught a pass for 89 yards and the third of Webb's three touchdowns.

Defensively, Richards made one big play after another. His fumble recovery led to Webb's first TD, and late in the game he knocked down a two-point PAT pass attempt that would have tied the game. To top it all off, he intercepted a pass on the final play of the game to end an Orange Lutheran drive.

Richards, the younger brother of former Webb standout athlete Paul Richards, will receive a plaque from Pomona Elks Lodge 789, sponsor of the Athlete of the Week program, at a dinner at the lodge on Nov. 10.



JOHN RICHARDS . . .

Other nominees for this week's award were Ontario Christian's Pete Verhoeven, Chaffey's Frank Fernandez and Bonita's Larry Larabee, all football players.

Tigers seek tie for title

Chaffey High can move a step closer to the Citrus Belt League championship tonight when it hosts Pacific in a 7:30 p.m. varsity football game.

The Tigers shared the league title with Fontana and Redlands in 1975 but will do even better this year if they win their final two regular season games. Chaffey currently holds a one-game lead in the standings with tonight's game and next week's big finale against Fontana remaining.

A win tonight would clinch at least another tri-championship for the Tigers, 3-0 in league play and 5-2 overall.

Chaffey figures to outclass the visiting Pirates tonight. Behind the passing of a quarterback John Gable and the rushing of Frank Fernandez, the Tigers have become the valley's No. 2 offensive team with an average of 23.6 points per game. In three CBL games, Chaffey has averaged 31 points.

At the same time, the stingy Tiger defense has allowed under 11 points per game on the year and just over nine per league outing.

Meanwhile, Pacific has compiled a 2-5 season record and a 1-2 league mark, its only CBL win coming last week against winless Redlands, 26-20.

Fernandez leads Chaffey in scoring with seven touchdowns, all in the last four games, for 42 points. Steve Lehor is next with 30 points and placekicker Bill Pomerenke has a field goal and 18 extra points for 21 points on the year.

Head coach Ray Stark is blessed with a highly experienced offensive backfield. Gable and flanker Randy Johnston, who has three TD catches this year, were both named to the All-CBL first team last year and Fernandez received honorable mention.

While the Tigers are heavily favored in tonight's contest, they'll have to avoid looking ahead to next week's confrontation at Fontana.

Chaffey 23, Fontana 1 at Chaffey High

Leading scorers: Mike Evans, 8 (now has 115 goals for the year in 18 games); Craig Sipes 5, Dave Scheonborn 2, Dan Spencer 2.

Chaffey is now 5-0 in Citrus Belt League games and 14-4 on the year. Next match will be Friday at Rolling Hills.

Saints take lead in scoring

San Dimas High, with a 41-0 shellacking of Sierra Vista last week, moved into the two-way lead in the Progress Bulletin Prep Scoring Derby.

The Saints, seventh-ranked in the CIF 2A division, took the lead in scoring for the first time this year and became the lone leader in defense — a category in which San Dimas shared the lead with Alta Loma in last week's derby.

San Dimas has averaged 25.6 points per game while allowing just 6.1.

Individually, Walnut's Kevin Morgan widened his scoring lead to 20 points by scoring three touchdowns against Royal Oak while runnerup Sanford Coggins of Bonita ran for two TDs against Ontario. Morgan now has 82 points to Coggins' 62.

Meanwhile, San Dimas' Bob Pleasant stayed in contention for the lead with three touchdowns against Sierra Vista for a total of 60 points on the year.

Perry Aris of San Dimas and Kevin Bowlin of Walnut debut in the top 10 this week with 32 points each.

Tony Dorsett, who rushed for 242 yards and two touchdowns in second-ranked Pitt's 23-13 triumph over Syracuse: "They gave me and us all we wanted. Then they gave us some more."

Chaffey wins C-C crown

SAN MARCOS — Chaffey college won the Mission Conference cross country meet and Citrus finished third Tuesday at Palomar College's course.

The Panthers also finished first in the final conference standings, which reflect both dual meet records and the conference meet. Chaffey was also the dual meet champ.

Citrus was fourth in the conference standings.

Montclair High's Mike Roza led the Panthers with a fifth-place finish in 21:24. Mark Flynn finished seventh for the Panthers while Stan Whorton was 12th, Tim Mattison of Chaffey High 13th and Scott McKeon of Upland High 19th.

Citrus' Phil Steinberger was ninth and teammate Mark Caballero 10th.

Hutchinson paces Kings

RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Dave Hutchinson and Tommy Williams each scored a goal in the final 1:09 Wednesday night, giving the Los Angeles Kings a 4-2 National Hockey League victory over Cleveland and extending the Barons' losing streak to five games.

Hutchinson fired a 25-footer past Cleveland goalie Gary Simmons with 1:09 left, putting the Kings ahead to stay. Williams, who assisted on two other goals, applied the clincher into an open net with just six seconds remaining.

Cleveland held a 2-1 lead until Butch Goring, who assisted on Hutchinson's goal, tied the game with his eight goal 58 seconds into the third period.

Williams, who had two power play goals against the Barons in a 4-3 victory at Los Angeles Saturday night, picked up his ninth goal of the season.

Gene Carr put the Kings, now 2-0-1 against the Barons this season, ahead on an unassisted goal at 5:11 of the first period. Cleveland tied it, however, on a shot by Dave Gardner at 9:30 of the same stanza, the shot coming after a sharp pass from teammate Jim Moxey.

The Barons jumped into the lead 2:33 into the second period, with Wayne Merrick deflecting in a shot by Gary Sabourin.

The Kings, coming off a 7-1 loss at Pittsburgh Tuesday night, turned things around behind a sparkling showing by goalie Rogie Vachon. The Los Angeles netminder turned aside 32 Cleveland shots.

Kings coach Bob Pulford said, "Vachon played just a super game. Without him, we would have been out of it after the second period."

Linesman Claude Bechard inadvertently helped the Kings set up Hutchinson's goal. Cleveland defenseman Len Frig hit Bechard with a clearing pass, with the puck staying in the Cleveland zone. Williams picked it up and fed Hutchinson who then converted his long shot.

"We came out into the third period, went into a shell and let them come at us in waves," Cleveland coach Jack Evans said. "I felt we played a pretty good game compared to the way we had been playing, the guys were working hard."

Stags suffer pool defeat

Visiting Occidental College broke open a tight match with a big third quarter Wednesday afternoon and went on to defeat Claremont-Mudd 15-12 at the Stags' Voit Pool.

Oxy outscored C-M 5-2 in that third quarter to take command of the match. Jim Sweet led Oxy with four goals, while Dave Kent had a like number for the Stags and teammate Greg Dorst added three scores.

The win gives the Tigers first place in the SCIAC with a perfect 5-0 mark. C-M is now 4-1 at the halfway point in conference play. The Stags are 6-10 for the year.

Next action for C-M will be Saturday at Voit Pool. The Stags will play Pomona-Pitzer at 10 a.m., University of Arizona at 1 p.m. and San Diego State at 3 p.m. in a unique water polo triple-header.

Softball loop sets meeting

The Claremont Girls Softball League will hold a general membership meeting to adopt new by-laws on Thursday, Nov. 18.

The meeting will be held at the home of league president Mrs. Dolores Leary, 2301 Tulsa Ave., Claremont, at 7:30 p.m. on the 18th. All parents of childern who participate in the league are urged to attend.

Sports briefs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers announced Wednesday they have signed a baseball working agreement with Clinton, Iowa, of the Midwest League where they previously had been affiliated with Danville, Ill.

This was the third switch of minor league clubs for the National League organization. Previously, the Dodgers had moved their Waterbury, Conn., franchise to San Antonio, Tex., and their rookie league team from Bellingham, Wash., to Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada.

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Bernardo Mercado remained unbeaten Wednesday night when he knocked out Johnny Pouha in the second round of a scheduled 10-round boxing match.

Mercado, 216, of Reno, picked up his 13th victory, including a dozen knockouts. He floored Pouha, 210, of Midville, Utah, at 1:21 of the second round.

Pouha's record is 19-4-1.

In a preliminary match, Jeff Morgan, a middleweight from Los Angeles, drew with Roy Jones of Las Vegas, in an eight-round bout.

VANCOUVER (AP) — Canada and the United States have failed to reach an agreement on the site of a World Cup soccer playoff game, a spokesman for Vancouver Whitecaps said Wednesday.

He said the decision now will be made by the Federation of International Football Associations (FIFA), the governing body of world soccer.

Mexico, Canada and the United States all finished with 1-1-2 records in a World Cup preliminary round double round-robin series, designed to have the top two teams advance. Mexico advanced because of the best goal average, leaving Canada and the United States tied.

The sudden-death playoff game must be played on neutral ground by the end of the year, says FIFA.

Vancouver is home base for the Canadian team.

Sagehen booters win conference

Pomona-Pitzer's soccer squad nailed down the SCIAC conference championship Wednesday afternoon with a 6-0 blanking of visiting Cal Tech.

The Sagehens' victory, coupled with Claremont-Mudd's 2-1 win over Whittier, netted P-P the title. The 'Hens are now 9-0-1 in SCIAC play with two games remaining. Whittier is 8-2-1 in league, while Claremont-Mudd is 7-3.

Wednesday's win also clinched a NAIA playoff spot for the Sagehens. Claremont-Mudd and Whittier will fight it out for the other berth allotted a SCIAC team.

Fred Herman and Leon Thanopoulos, with two goals apiece, and Humberto Valdivia and John Waldman with single goals, accounted for the Sagehen scoring vs. Cal Tech. The win upped the P-P season mark to 10-1-2.

The Sagehens now have 55 goals in conference play, one away from the SCIAC record of 56, set by Claremont-Mudd in 1969. Thanopoulos has led the way with 19 goals and 13 assists.

Goals by Carl Heim and Randy Douglas sparked Claremont-Mudd to the big win over Whittier Wednesday.

Pomona-Pitzer plays at home Saturday vs. Occidental, while C-M will also be at home vs. Cal Tech. Both those matches are slated to begin at 10 a.m.
